MARSHALL'S DELAYED WARNING AIRED

FREE HAND FOR UNO FAVORED BY PRESIDENT

Truman Sees No Need for Big Three Parley If Machinery Works.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29 — President Truman said today he has planned for any more Big Three conferences if the United Nations Organization works as it should.

Speaking at a news conference after conversations in Allied control policy and machinery for Germany might require a meeting with Generalissimo Stalin, Prime Minister Attlee, Mr. Truman said he was not in favor of such conferences.

He wants the United Nations to succeed, he added, asserting he remembers that the League of Nations was ruined by special conferences.

The President stated he hoped the United Nations would take action within the next 90 days all the problems previously worked out by Big Three meetings.

Lists 5 Points

In his discussion of foreign policy Mr Truman also developed these points

1. He does not share the fear which a reporter said some persons in the country hold that Russia will not cooperate toward world peace or that Russia's policies will lead to war. He was very emphatic in stating he did not share any such fears.

2. At a later date, the President will discuss fully the international situation particularly as it involves efforts of the nations to organize for peace. The discussion may be at a news conference or negotiations are now under way among the Allies ruling Germany for a revision of the Potsdam declaration on Germany in some respects. Chiefly the United States is seeking a modification of the arrangement which requires unanimous agreement among this government, Russia, France and Britain before any decisions can be made by the Allied control council in Berlin This effort at revision grows out of Byron Price's report on the possible failure of American aims and policies in Germany

3 Gen George C. Marshall, the President's special envoy to China probably will leave for Chungking in three or four days and the instructions which he is finally given may be published. They are not to be worked out, although Mr Truman said that Marshall's basic job would be to carry out the policies which we've already had in China.

4 The resignation of Ambassador Patrick J Hurley from the China post reached his desk formally only this morning, the President said Hurley announced a few days ago with a blast at American "career diplomats" Mr Truman declined to comment on the Hurley criticisms.

5 The President said he no longer is interested—as he did while vice president — a senate resolution favoring establishment of a Palestine Jewish commonwealth because conditions have changed A number had noted some Zionists have said the President gave advance support to the Taft-Wagner resolution in behalf of such a commonwealth The President replied that he did favor a similar resolution while he was vice president but did not favor it now

Drastic Change Seen

Any drastic revision of American policy in Germany is expected by some officials to result from Byron Price's report to Truman on potential failure of present German administration

Any result of any such change is said to eliminate to a great degree the remaining influence of Henry Morgenthau Jr. over German control policy

This is the "Morgenthau plan"—the two hard-peace plan—the former secretary of the treasury had influence in the writing of basic German policy directives is the directive—known as JCS 1067—under which the American military government in Germany functioned originally Although it still draws considerable authority even though the Potsdam declaration at Potsdam is the basic guide

It was recommended that JCS 1067 be rewritten "into a few broad terms of general principles and its detailed provisions left untold force upon Gen-

Steel Workers Vote Nearly 5 to 1 in Favor of Strike

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 29—Officials of the CIO-United Steelworkers held in their hands today authority to call a nationwide strike to enforce their demand for a $2 a day pay raise.

The power was given by members of their union who voted in a National Labor Relations board election yesterday, favoring a strike nearly 5 to 1.

Unofficial, incomplete returns to the NLRB from hundreds of polling places in 27 states showed the workers voting 342,125 for, only 70,639 against a strike.

There was no indication a strike would be called immediately or even in the near future.

Officials of the USWA told their local leaders before the voting that a favorable ballot did not necessarily mean there would be a strike

Warning Issued

Workers were cautioned against any premature work stoppage and were informed the authority for a strike rests with the national wage policy committee and the executive board.

The election was the greatest NLRB vote ever undertaken in the United States, involving 766 plants and some 650 000 workmen, many thousands of whom did not cast ballots.

The vote was called for by the union after the steel companies declared that they could not grant a $2 a day pay boost without a raise in steel prices, which the OPA refused.

Complete returns from Pennsylvania, greatest steel producer in the nation, with an annual ingot capacity of about 30,000,000 tons voted 161,512 for, 36,817 against.

The teeming mills of Ohio produced a 69 096 to 14 923 return for the strike authorization

New York steelworkers plumped for the walkout by about 40 000 to 7 000 votes.

Majorities in these three big states ranged around 5 to 1 but they were not the highest recorded

Alabama High

About 4,000 workers in Alabama voted 14 to 1 for a strike. nearly 7 500 in Minnesota cast a 13 to 1 ballot for it Some 16,000 in Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina and Michigan favored the strike 8 to 1, while smaller groups in Utah and Texas voted 10 to 1

In Arkansas, a single plant with 38 workers voting, gave the strike a thumping 37 to 1 approval.

The smallest majority, about 2 to 1, was recorded by 3,000 steelworkers in Colorado.

Yesterday's balloting involved employes of all plants of "Little Steel" and "Big Steel", numerous independents not included in either groups, as well as aluminum workers who more than a year ago became members of the USWA. Aluminum workers voted for the strike in about the same ratio as steel workers.

At Hibbing, Minn., in the iron ore fields, workers also voted heavily in favor of the strike. The same trend ran through the host of steel fabricating plants in which the USWA has locals.

MARION UNIONS VOTE TO STRIKE

1,151 For and 264 Against; 82 Per Cent in Ohio Vote for Proposal.

Members of CIO-United Steel Workers locals in four Marion industrial plants joined a large majority of other steel workers union members throughout the nation in favoring enforcement of the unions demand for a $2 a day wage increase by a heavy majority, reports on yesterday's voting show Of the approximately 2,000 members here, 1,151 voted in favor of a strike to gain the pay increase and 264 against one Some members did not vote either way, the records show. In Ohio more than 82 per cent of the unions voted to support the demand.

Votes at Plants Listed

The voting was conducted at various hours throughout the day in the Marion plants. At the Marion Steam Shovel Co plant where 1,415 members of Local No 1949 and Local No. 2627 Office Workers are eligible to vote, approximately 80 per cent were in favor of the increase demanded. Of the 1 002 members voting 786 voted yes and 207 no, nine ballots were void and 413 did not vote. At the Alloy Cast Steel Co plant 81 were for the increase and 11 voted no, a percentage of slightly more than 84 per cent. More than 90 per cent of the workers at the Baker Wood Preserving Co plant voted to support the demand the vote being 73 yes and 7 against. More than 85 per cent of the workers at the Pollak Steel Plant favored the demand with figures totalling 231 yes and 39 against.

William F. Bell of Mansfield, staff representative of the United Steel Workers, is in Marion today to assist in tabulating the vote

Final statewide balloting returns yesterday showed 69,138 votes in favor of strike action and 14,949 opposed to a walkout to enforce the International union's demands, the NLRB reported. The board declared ,594 votes void in Ohio

In populous northern Ohio steel centers 71 per cent of the 108,372 workers eligible cast ballots with 61 787 favoring a strike and only 12 983 opposed

Steelworkers in three small Ohio plants opposed strike action, the NLRB reported. Unionists at the Ashtabula Bow Socket Co at

Hunter's Yells Call Aid from Mile Off in Ashley Accident

Special to The Star

ASHLEY, Nov. 29 — Fred Rebo, farmer of east of Ashley, has a good pair of lungs to thank for getting him out of an unpleasant situation recently.

While coon-hunting late Tuesday night he was following his dog in the dark and tumbled over a 30-foot embankment along Alum creek Surveying the situation, he found that his ankle was so injured that he couldn't walk, so he put his voice to work

A mile away, Jay Hickson heard the call, and with the aid of Carl Bonham helped the victim to level ground Rebo had to crawl some 100 yards.

He was treated by a local physician.

Schwellenbach Tries His Luck at Settling Costly GM Strike

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, Nov. 29—Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach took a personal hand today in the nine-day-old General Motors strike which has idled 225,000 workers and stalled production in more than 70 plants.

Schwellenbach, who conferred with President Truman late last week on the GM strike, sat in on a four-hour meeting with officials of the CIO United Automobile workers at Washington yesterday.

Truman Urges Parley

At Washington, President Truman expressed belief today that executives of the General Motors Corp. should sit down and talk over the wage dispute.

He gave this opinion at a news conference after a reported asked him about similar recommendation by the advisory board of the War Mobilization and Reconversion office.

The advisory board, it reported, suggested that the General Motors corporation sit down with the CIO United Automobile workers with the White House acting as mediator. The board thought that would be a good idea.

The conference was called by Chief Federal Conciliator Edgar L. Warren, who announced later he and Schwellenbach would ask GM President C. E. Wilson to resume negotiations promptly with the striking union.

Warren told reporters he was "hopeful" of getting the two parties together and of finding a common ground of discussion of the issues that keep them apart.

School Pupils Pass Half-Way Mark in Victory Loan Drive

Bond Sales on First Day Total $36,280; Citywide Canvass Set for Next Week.

Marion public and parochial schools today went into the second day of their Victory Loan campaign more than half way to their goal of $60,000. Sales for the first day amounted to $36,280 75

The pupils also were well on their way to selling sufficient bonds to furnish 20 complete hospital units to care for wounded American servicemen now returning from the war zones. Each unit represents sale of $3,000 in Victory bonds.

Reports on the amounts of bonds sold yesterday by individual schools were not prepared by drive leaders but information was available on the approximate number of hospital units reached.

Vernon Heads List

Vernon Junior High school was in the lead with two units assured. The school was well on its way to a third unit when sales ended yesterday.

St Mary parochial school had one unit assured and was well on its way toward a second.

Harding High school has set its goal at five units. More than enough bonds for one were sold yesterday In the elementary schools Greenwood and George Washington had sales of more than enough for one unit each.

Other schools were expected to reach the one unit mark today.

The sales in the schools are continuing today At Vernon and Central the drive was conducted when the pupils returned to classes after inspecting the Victory Loan train at the Erie freight house this morning.

Harding and Central held their sales before pupils were dismissed to visit the train. The reports of today's activities will not be tabulated until late this afternoon.

Will Canvass City

Starting next Monday school pupils will make a city wide canvass in the only drive of its kind in connection with the Victory Loan

The school drive is headed by Cecil W Gabler, principal of Vernon junior high school, and chairman of the school activities committee of the Marion County War Finance Committee.

Thousands View Exhibits Here on Victory Loan Train

Five railway carloads of Army and captured enemy equipment was on exhibition in Marion this morning when the Victory Loan special train stopped for four hours on a siding near the Erie freight house on West Center street. One of six such trains sponsored by the Army ground forces, the train was brought here by the Marion County War Finance Committee

Preceding the public inspection, a short program was held at 8 a. m and broadcast over radio station WMRN. Mayor Harry L. Dowler extended the city's welcome to the officers and men aboard the train and Col John T. English, train commander, responded on behalf of the crew Cecil W. Gabler, principal of Vernon Junior High school, spoke briefly on the need for putting over the Victory Loan.

A continuous line of people, estimated in the thousands, more than half of them school children, filed past the two flat cars and through the three baggage cars that made up the exhibit. Price

Social Affairs

MISS RUTH MARIE WISE, daughter of Warren J Wise of 364 East Church street, became the bride of Cpl. Patrick Louis Nolan, son of Mrs Robert E Nolan of Los Angeles, Calif., and the late Mr Nolan, in a ceremony read yesterday afternoon at 4.30 o'clock in the St. Mary parsonage by Rev. Father William J. Spickerman.

For her wedding, the bride chose a sable brown street length dress trimmed with tiny sequins. Her shoes and long gloves were in a matching shade and completing her costume was a mauve colored satin hat. Her white Bible marked with a white orchid and showered with white streamers was carried by her sister, Mrs. Robert S. Kraner, at her wedding. Her jewelry was a gold bracelet belonging to her aunt, Mrs Grace E Haskins of Columbus.

Mrs. Robert S. Kraner, sister of the bride, was her only attendant. She was attired in a dress of a light coffee shade with a winter green satin hat and brown accessories. Her corsage was a bronze orchid.

Dr. Charles Salyer of Covington, Ky., college friend of the bridegroom, served as best man.

Mrs. Warren J Wise wore a black sequin-trimmed dress with a flower hat in a deep rose shade and a corsage of deep rose colored roses. Mrs. Nolan was dressed in a California print dress of rose and white with a deep purple feathered hat. Her corsage was a purple orchid.

A wedding dinner was held immediately following the ceremony at Hotel Harding for the bridal party and the immediate family, and later Mr and Mrs. Wise were host to a reception at their home from 7.30 to 9 30 o'clock. The receiving line formed in front of the fireplace which was banked with palms and white chrysanthemums and the same flowers were placed throughout the house. The dining room was lighted with candles and the table was centered with a wedding cake and silver antique candle sticks. White mums also decorated the room. The Baker string trio of Heidelberg college played during the reception.

Assisting were Mrs. Jack Smyth, Mrs Carl Danner, Mrs. Grace Hoskins, Mrs. David Spitler, Mrs James C Woods Jr., Mrs Charles Fly, Mrs. Carl Sheehe, Mrs Phillip Boyd, Mrs Clifford Hoch, Mrs Rose Lake, Mrs Frank Knapp, Miss Ruth Miller, Miss Regina Tyner and Mrs Raymond Furniss.

When the couple left for a wedding trip, the new Mrs. Nolan was wearing a California red gabardine suit with a dew grey blouse and a large hat of the same shade and black accessories. She was wearing the orchid from her wedding bouquet. Following their trip, they will return to Marion before Cpl Nolan returns to Camp Cook, Calif.

The bride's gift to her attendant was a gold pin and earring set and the bridegroom presented his best man an alligator billfold.

Mrs Nolan is a graduate of Harding High school, attended Capital College of Oratory Music, Columbus, Max Reinhardt's Dramatic school, Los Angeles, Pasadena Playhouse, Maria Ouspenskaya school and Gellers in Los Angeles. Cpl. Nolan attended St. Joseph's Prep School for Boys in Muskogee, Okla., Byrn Mawr High School for Boys at Atchinson, Kas., the University of Arkansas, and took his premedics at Indiana university. He plans to complete his study in medicine at Stanford university. His fraternity is Lambda Chi Alpha.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Kenneth A. Hagan of Pittsburgh, Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Kenzig of Columbus, Miss Ruth Miller of Columbus, Mrs. Grace E Hoskins of Columbus, Sgt. and Mrs. Charles E. Conoway of Toledo, Miss Eva Omsby of Mt. Gilead, Mrs. Ralph Kleinecht, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Long and Mr. and Mrs Clyde Wise and daughter Charmagne, of Galion.

MRS. WILFRED SCHAFFNER of St. James street entertained members of the Woman's Board of Marion City hospital yesterday noon with Miss Geraldine Hord serving as assistant hostess. Plans for the annual benefit ball, sponsored by the group, were discussed. The dance will be held Dec. 26 at Schwinger's Danceland. Members also voted to purchase a new reference book for the hospital laboratory. Hostesses for the next meeting on Dec. 12 will be Mrs. Bernard Moloney, Mrs John T McNamara and Mrs John A. McNamara.

Miss Mabel Wheatley and Mrs Harry Evans were hostesses when the Three Arts club met at the Federation home at 1126 East Center street Tuesday afternoon. Rooms were decorated with chrysanthemums and fall flowers, and dessert luncheon was served in the dining room at a table decorated with flowers and fruit. Mrs Paul Glassmeyer presided and served from an old English silver service belonging to Miss Wheatley.

An article on Thanksgiving was presented by Mrs. Glassmeyer, and she offered prayer. Mrs. Grace Uish was appointed Victory bond chairman, and members decided to send Christmas gifts to the Girls' Industrial school at Delaware. The annual Christmas collection was designated for musical instruments for veterans hospitals.

Mrs C S. Dayton played a piano selection and Mrs J. H. Woleslagel gave a paper on conversation. A covered dish dinner meeting will be held the evening of Dec 12 at the Federation home with husbands of members as guests.

Mrs. S. L. Surface was hostess to the Searchlight club Monday afternoon at her home on South Prospect street. Mrs. Carson Shetterly was elected secretary for the remainder of the year to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mrs J B. Ellis.

"Literary achievements of Ohio men and women" was the subject of a paper presented by Mrs. L. A Robinson, president, who also gave a report of a recent county Federation meeting. A contribution was made to the penny art fund. Mrs. A. J. Loudenslager, treasurer, gave a report on a recent rummage sale held by the group.

Mrs W. D. Martin conducted devotions and Mrs. C. Z. Zachman led in prayer. A sale of articles made by the blind was also conducted by Mrs. Zachman. Roll call was answered by quotations from Ohio writers.

Mrs. Leona Taylor was hostess to members of the Sesame club Monday afternoon at the Federation Home on East Center street. Twenty members answered the roll call with several things for which they are thankful. Mrs. L. C. Dickerson presented a paper "Pioneering in Glass." The book, "So Well Remembered" by James Hilton, was reviewed by Mrs. E. Fogle. Mrs. A. G. Brown is preparing an art scrap book to be sent to the Fletcher General Hospital. She displayed some of the pictures to the club members.

A meeting of the Clionian club was held Tuesday night at the Federation Home on East Center street with Mrs. Robert Graham and Mrs. Clarence Sanden serving as hostesses. Program included reading of two papers, "Immigrants within Our Doors," by Mrs. Frank Barnhill and "How Immigrants Become Citizens," by Mrs. Joseph Schlosser. Plans were made for a Christmas exchange party to be held Dec. 26. It was voted to send a Christmas box to the Girls' Industrial school at Delaware.

Announcement is being made of the engagement marriage of Miss Betty Louise Gmelch of Waldo, daughter of Mrs. Lillian Gmelch of Waterford, Mich., and Albert Gmelch of Middle Bass, O., to Pvt. Richard E. Dutt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dutt of Waldo. No date has been set for the wedding. Both the bride elect and Pvt. Dutt are graduates of Waldo High school, class of '45. Pvt. Dutt is now enroute to Japan. Miss Gmelch is employed at the Marion Engineer Depot.

Mrs. Nettie Hull and Mrs. Frank Scribner were guests when Mrs. Reuben Rettig of Merkle avenue entertained the Colonial club Tuesday evening. A 6 o'clock dinner was followed by an evening of bunco, awards for high score going to Mrs. R. M. Ewing. Mrs. E. H. Cooper was consoled and Mrs E. H. Poorman received the guessing box award. Mrs Scribner was presented the guest award. Plans were made for a Christmas party Dec. 18 at Detrick's Inn.

The Wide Awake club met Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Nell Irvine on Canby court. First award in euchre went to Mrs K. D. Whiteman, second to Mrs. Carl Neimeyer, third to Mrs. Tom Robbins and the lone hand to Mrs. Ada Barber. Mrs Barber was also a guest. Mrs W. F Cromer will entertain the members in two weeks at her home on Delaware avenue with a potluck supper and a Christmas gift exchange.

Mrs. Myron Gibson of Spencer street was hostess to the Starlight club Tuesday evening when plans were made for a Christmas party to be held Jan. 1 at Detrick's Inn. Following the business meeting, bridge was played with honors going to Mrs. Charles Knackel, first and galloping, Mrs. Horace Wilson, second, and Mrs. Jacob Ebert, consolation. Lunch was served by the hostess.

Guests at the dinner which followed the wedding of Miss Evelyn Converse and Ralph L. Barkley, Sunday, included Miss Anna Marie Isaly. The name was unintentionally omitted from the account reported to The Star Monday.

CLASS PLANS YULE PARTY

Mrs. Clifton Felty's group served luncheon to approximately 35 members of the Westminster Bible class of the First Presbyterian church Tuesday in the church parlors. Devotions by Mrs. F. F. Williams and Mrs. Hubert Turner and a talk by Mrs. H. L. Olewiler centered around the Thanksgiving theme. Plans were made for a Christmas party Dec. 11. Mrs. Maude Titus of Oakland, Calif., and Mrs. T. E. Kinnear were guests.

Weddings

Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Sherman of Greenhurst, N. Y., formerly of Superior street, are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Geraldine, to Roy Haupin, son of Mr and Mrs. Carl Haupin of Jamestown, N. Y. which took place Nov. 21 at 4 o'clock at the Presbyterian church in Jamestown, N. Y. Rev. J. Livingston, pastor, read the double-ring ceremony and open church was observed.

The bridegroom was recently discharged from service with the armed forces after serving overseas as a paratrooper. Before his discharge he held the rating of sergeant.

A half-hour interlude of nuptial music preceded the ceremony, and during that time little Miss Donna Haupin, niece of the bridegroom lighted the candles before an altar banked with palms and greenery.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, wore a white faille gown trimmed with open embroidery and a train and a veil of illusion. Her bouquet was fashioned of a white Bible with streamers and white orchids and roses. For her jewelry she wore a double strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

Miss Betty Walker of Marion, matron of honor, wore an aqua gown fashioned over similar lines and carried a bouquet of bronze chrysanthemums.

The bride's gift to her attendant was a pair of gold earrings. The bridegroom's gift to his brother, Jack Haupin, also a returned serviceman, who served as best man, was an engraved silver cigaret case. Ushers were Larry Johnson of Mansfield, Jack Zeizo of New York City and Robert Nordland of Westville, N. Y., all discharged veterans who served with the bridegroom.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Sherman wore a black crepe dress with pink accessories and a bouquet of gardenias. Mrs. Haupin chose an aqua gown with black accessories and a gardenia bouquet.

A reception held at Lavon's in Jamestown, followed the ceremony. The dining room was decorated with white chrysanthemums and lighted with candles. The table, centered with a three-tiered wedding cake was lighted with tall white tapers.

The bride was a graduate of Harding High school with the class of 1943 and was employed in the office of Uhler's Department store. Mr. Haupin is employed by an excavation company in Jamestown. The bride's parents moved to Greenhurst from here last spring.

Guests from Cleveland, Wooster, Genuga Lake, Baltimore, Md. and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Sloop of South Prospect street attended.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gearhiser of Waldo are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Marjorie to Richard McCammon, son of Mr. and Mrs. John McCammon of Westerville, O. The double ring ceremony was read Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Lutheran parsonage in Waldo by Rev. S C. Long, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church of Waldo.

Miss Barbara Gearhiser, sister of the bride, was her only attendant. She chose a dress of rose silk crepe with which she wore white accessories and a corsage of gardenias.

For her wedding, the bride chose a two piece blue wool crepe dress with which she wore black accessories. Her flowers were an orchid corsage and her jewelry was a single strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom and a bracelet worn by her mother at her wedding.

Paul McCammon of Westerville served his brother as best man.

The bride's gift to her attendant was a silver bracelet and the bridegroom presented his best man with a gold tie clasp and collar pin set.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake decorated with white bells and topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom. Tall white tapers lighted the table.

The couple will make their home on the bridegroom's farm near Westerville.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Thomas of 251 West Pleasant street are announcing the marriage of their daughter, June, to Warren Moore, son of Mr and Mrs. Darius Moore of 791 Bennett street. The single ring ceremony which took place in the Pilgrim Holiness parsonage at Greenup, Ky., Thursday afternoon, Nov. 15 was read by J. W. Smack, pastor.

The bride chose a suit of navy wool with shell accessories. Her only attendant was Miss Beverly Dusseau who was attired in a brown wool dress fashioned over tailored lines. Each wore an orchid.

The bride was graduated from Harding High school with the class of 1942. The bridegroom entered army service from here three years ago and for the past year has served overseas with the First Army. He was discharged last August at a separation center in Texas. For the present the couple will make their home here.

Miss Dorothy Zediker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Zediker of Youngstown, became the bride of Virgil Winsor, son of Mr and Virgil Winsor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence T. Winsor of White Oaks road in a double ring ceremony Tuesday.

The service was performed in the First Baptist Temple in Youngstown by Rev. E. W. Bloomquist.

Following the service Mr. and Mrs. Winsor left for a honeymoon trip through the west. They visited with the bridegroom's parents before continuing. They will make their home in Toledo. Mr Winsor was recently discharged from the armed forces after service in the Pacific area.

Marion Salon, 8 et 40 Meets in Mt. Gilead

Mrs. Marguerite Keller of Mt. Gilead entertained Marion Salon No. 251, 8 et 40, in her home Monday night. It was voted to send $10 to the National Jewish hospital in Denver, Col., and to purchase $2 in Christmas seals. Announcement was made that Mrs. Iva Behner has been appointed state radio chairman. The December meeting was postponed because the regular meeting night is Chistmas eve, and the next meeting was announced for Jan. 28 at the home of Mrs. May Napier at 230 Elm street, Marion. A Departmentale Pouvoir meeting at the Deshler-Wallick hotel in Columbus will be held Sunday, Dec. 9, at 10 a. m. Members planned to attend the luncheon session of the meeting that day.

Boy Scout Lore Helped GI Give Slip to Nazis

By The United Press

LAREDO, Tex.—Scout lessons made the watch on the Rhine bearable and escape from capture much easier for Pfc. A. W. (Lonnie) Gates of Laredo.

In a letter to his former scoutmaster, Gates said camping and geography lessons he learned as a Boy Scout came in "mighty handy."

He taught his platoon how to make air-tight sleeping bags with their blankets and shelter-halves during the December campaign on the Rhine.

Then, after he and 23 other boys escaped when the company was captured, Gates and his fellow doughboys found their way out of a sure trap. As soon as night blackened the sky, Gates "picked up some of the constellations" and figured out a safe, westerly direction.

LAUSCHE BLOCKED ON "SLOTS" CHARGES

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 29—Gov. Lausche's drive to "eradicate the evils" of slot machines was at a standstill today.

Advised that time may have closed the doors against his efforts to prosecute persons who reaped a harvest from slot machine operations back in 1939 and 1940, Lausche indicated he would not abandon his efforts until all avenues for possible prosecution had been thoroughly explored and added:

"If the prosecution can not now be brought, what course will be followed to eradicate these evils if they still exist, I will later have to determine."

Informed yesterday by a group of county prosecutors and a representative of the attorney general's office that slot machine operation is a misdemeanor not prosecutable after three years, Lausche asked the group to advise him in writing whether conspiracy of a group of persons to operate slot machines constituted a felony—still subject to prosecution.

The governor initiated the inquiry several weeks ago after transcripts of testimony in a suit against the U. S. commissioner of internal revenue disclosed that three Akron residents — Harold R. Horn, Horace Mill and Ruby A. Mill—had obtained tax reductions for expenses incurred in slot machine operations.

He said the testimony also showed that Matthew L. Brown of Springfield, state secretary of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, received $142,000 in 1940 slot machine profits. Brown has denied ...

ESCAPED PRISONER CAUGHT AT GALION

Pittsburgh Man Faces Concealed Weapon Charge.

Special to The Star

GALION, Nov. 29—An escaped prisoner of the Columbus workhouse, is being held in Galion by police on a charge of carrying concealed weapons. He is Howard Lee Wright, 30, of Pittsburgh, Pa.

He was arrested at Bruno's Blue Room here Tuesday at 9:40 p. m. after his actions aroused police suspicion. Police were told that Wright was carrying a gun.

Capt. Charles Lauer and Patrolman George Cook arrested Wright when he reached for his belt as he was being questioned by the two officers.

Police Chief James L. Walker who conducted an inquiry about the suspect after he said he had been working for the railroad in Crestline for the past three ... sentence.

Wright was also questioned Wednesday by Bucyrus police in an effort to determine whether he was implicated in the Palm Supper club robbery early Sunday morning in that city.

When arrested, Wright was found to be carrying a .38-caliber pearl handled revolver with five shells, $321.02 in cash, seven other shells for the revolver, 21-jewel yellow gold wrist watch, Ball railroad white gold watch and personal items.

Only three ivory-billed woodpeckers are known to be alive.

GETS MENTAL PROGRAM

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Nov. 29—Ohio's failure to provide for adequate care of mentally deficient persons was assailed today by Dr. Arthur T. Hopwood, superintendent of the Applecreek, (O.) state school. The state should supply 12,300 additional beds, in comparison with a 1,520-bed expansion program, to solve the problem, Dr. Hopwood declared in an address prepared for delivery before the American Association on Mental Deficiency's annual convention here.

NAZIS SEE OWN HORROR FILMS

Some Hide Faces, All Sober at Pictures of Camp Atrocities.

By The Associated Press

NUERNBERG, Nov. 29—Ghastly scenes of Nazi concentration camps were shown in motion pictures today to the international military tribunal but some of the Hitlerite leaders on trial sat with averted eyes during the showing of the grim film record of German cruelty.

The ghastly pictures of mass murder sobered Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering and others of the score of defendants who had grinned and laughed earlier as an American prosecutor disclosed the threats, bluffs and deceit with which Hitler softened up Austria for an unopposed invasion.

Refuses to Look

Hjalmar Schacht, Hitler's "financial wizard," sat with his back to the screen, refusing to look at the official U. S. Army film. Franz von Papen, once Germany's wiliest diplomat, refused to glance at the screen but could not shut out the wound of the narrator's voice describing the death of thousands of Nazi victims.

Rudolph Hess, on the other hand, showed an interest in the trial for the first time. Hitler's one-time deputy who is trying to escape from the trial on a plea of lost memory, followed the uncensored film closely.

Goering also watched the screen intently.

Cold, aloof Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz, German navy commander in chief, glanced at the screen only occasionally.

The court adjourned for the day at 4:45 p. m. (10:45 a. m. EST) after the motion picture was entered as evidence.

Planned Surprise War

Records proving that the German high command drew up detailed plans for a "surprise war" against Austria at the time Hitler was telling the world he had no territorial ambitions were laid today before the international military tribunal trying 20 Nazi leaders on war crimes charges.

For the second straight day, American prosecutors continued to unfold the tale of Nazi intrigue, deceit and fifth column activity that resulted in the blitz anschluss of Austria in 1938.

The Austrian war plan, identified by the code name "Otto," was taken from the files of the German high command, Assistant U. S. Prosecutor Sidney S. Alderman said. He then produced a directive from Marshal Werner von Blomberg in which he quoted the former secretary of war as saying "there might be special preparations for war against Austria."

The war plan was introduced over the objection of counsel for Col. Gen. Alfred Jodl, German army chief of staff, who said that the document showed only that the wehrmacht was preparing "for all eventualities," including "war against Spain."

Diary Is Evidence

The prosecution also produced as evidence, General Jodl's private diary which revealed that Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel, high command chief of staff and one of the defendants, and German naval chiefs had conducted fake military maneuvers to frighten Austria in February, 1938—a month before Hitler moved into the neighboring country without resistance.

Reichs Marshal Hermann Goering grinned at evidence of another bit of Hitlerite fakery used to intimidate small European nations—an order from Field Marshal Keitel directing "spreading of false but quite creditable news" of Nazi military intentions toward Austria.

Goering's court acting reached a new high when he shook his head and ponderously rocked from side to side in negation of the prosecutor's statement that the Nazis feared the result of a plebiscite called by Austrian Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg to determine Austria's stand on independence. Alderman maintained that Hitler forced Schuschnigg's resignation and then marched in to Austria to prevent the plebiscite.

ON TRIAL. A tense Mrs. Irene Mansfeldt is shown in the San Francisco courtroom where she is on trial for the murder of Nurse Veda Martin. The society matron admits shooting the nurse after accusing her of an illicit romance with her husband, Dr. John H. Mansfeldt, who later committed suicide. Counsel for the defense of the 45-year-old mother of three children indicate they will contend that she was in a drug-induced "white fog" at the time of the slaying.

Price also proposed that there should be some provision for slowing down the process of denazification where men of small position in industry are concerned.

Congress Grumbles at Quick Discharge Given General's Son

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29—Military release of a general's son by special order drew criticism in the House yesterday and a call for immediate discharge of all medical students in the armed forces.

Representative Reed (R.-N. Y.) told the House he "deplored the favoritism shown" in discharging 18-year-old Marine Pvt. Jack MacNider, whose father is Brig. Gen. Hanford MacNider.

The youth, premedical student with two years on Iwo Jima and other Pacific fighting zones behind him, had 38 of the 50 points normally required for marine release. The marine corps said he was discharged by radio request of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, supreme commander in the Far East.

Gen. MacNider said he had asked permission to bring his son back (from Japan).

Representative Kilday (D-Tex.) declared it is essential for the nation's well being that premedical and medical students be released at once. He said students of other specialties also should be discharged as quick as possible.

SAYS U. S. MAY GRANT CHINA MILITARY AID

By The Associated Press

Chinese press dispatches told today of a possible Sino-Soviet accord on Nationalist occupation of Manchuria, and Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, U. S. commander in China, indicated that the United States may be contemplating giving military assistance to the Chungking government.

The press reports said Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's troops have halted their march toward Mukden, Manchuria, because the Russians have agreed to their unhindered, peaceful entry later. Much of Manchuria is held by Chinese Communist forces.

Wedemeyer's suggestion of possible U. S. aid to China was included in comments on the appointment of General Marshall as a special envoy to China. The American commander said he thought Marshall's trip was for the purpose of making a "survey of the situation" to make "appropriate recommendations to the President concerning future U. S. assistance — or military aid—to China."

The Orient's second trouble spot, Indonesia, quieted somewhat as British Indian troops completed occupation of the key naval base city of Soerabaja, scene of a prolonged struggle with native extremists.

A local administration has been set up under British control.

Military operations continued south of Soerabaja while the British continued negotiations at Bandoeng with Soetardjo, Indonesian "governor" of West Java, for evacuation of the city by Native forces.

Here the floating wing on Maj. Gen. H. M. McClelland (left) of the Army Air Force holds tinfoil "rope" in both hands, rolled in his right and unrolled in his left, while Maj. Gen. Roger B. The "rope" and the "chaff" were what we dropped over enemy areas to screen or curtain our planes by reflecting the enemy's radar.

MAJ. MERCHANT ON DINNER PROGRAM

Speaks on Work of Army Medical Corps.

Maj. Frederick Merchant of the Army Medical Corps, home on leave, was guest speaker at a dinner meeting of the Y's Men's club Wednesday night in the Y. M. C. A. when wives of the members were entertained.

He spoke on the work of the medical Corps in the Army and of the value of physical preparedness in war.

Two new members, Ralph Simpson, recently discharged from the Navy, and Paul Hunt were received and Charles Harmon, recently returned Navy veteran was welcomed as an old member.

The entertainment program was in charge of John Waddell's social committee. Mrs Kenneth Fields served as pianist in the absence of Richard Myers, who is in the City hospital.

Guests included the presidents of the other three service clubs and their wives, Mr. and Mrs J. Wendell Wiant of the Rotary club, Mr and Mrs. John Peacock of the Lions club, Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Mason of the Kiwanis club, Mrs. Charles Isaly, mother of the club, Maj and Mrs. Frederick Merchant and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Bollinger.

DEBATE BARS ACTION ON UNITED NATIONS

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29 — A barrage of words and amendments stalled senate action today on legislation to mesh this government's machinery with that of the infant United Nations Organization.

Weary but confident, Sen. Connally (D-Tex) told a reporter that UNO supporters had ample voting strength "but no man can force the senate to vote when they want to keep on talking."

Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo) declared this nation is "drifting toward war with Russia with certainty and speed." He called for approval of the pending bill without change because, he said, war with Russia "would mean suicide for both nations."

Johnson said it was time to get "rough and tough" in our relations with all the world, adding:

"With vision and guts and plenty of atomic bombs, ultra modern planes and strategically located air bases, the United States can outlaw wars of aggression."

Sen. Morse (R-Ore) said the future will bring a U. S.-Soviet dispute that would require action by the new world court proposed under the UNO charter.

The Oregon senator argued that before agreeing to use "economic or military sanctions" in settling any international disputes, the United States should agree to be bound by any decisions of the court."

Sen. Bridges (R-NH) proposed a new section to the bill calling for agreement among UNO nations to abandon compulsory military training as a policy.

The measure provides for appointment of this country's delegates to UNO and for the use of U. S. troops by the organization's security council.

Juvenile Master Chosen at Meeting of Grange

Mr and Mrs. H. E. Newman were obligated when Martel Grange met Tuesday night Isabel Rinehart was elected juvenile master for the coming year.

A community reception was planned for Saturday night, Dec. 1, honoring Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Moon, who are moving to Marion in the near future. Arrangements are to be in charge of Mrs. Ruth Hollsberry and Mrs. Z. O. Emahiser. Plans for giving an evening program at Whetstone Grange in Crawford county Dec 11 were discussed and practice was held.

A short program which followed included group singing, a vocal solo by Lois Pangborn accompanied by Shirley Pangborn, a piano duet by Isobel Rinehart and Mrs. Elma Downs and a reading by Mrs. Ray Hedding. Everett Douce and Ivan Downs were captains of a contest of capitals of the states.

GM

the Ternstedt strike committee said a hands-off policy "will only result in further stalling by General Motors and prolongation of the strike."

Ready Any Time

UAW-CIO President R. J. Thomas and Vice President Walter P. Reuther said they were ready to meet with the GM management "any time, any place."

The labor department said Wilson had declined three separate invitations to the capital for talks with the conciliation service similar to those yesterday with the union.

Shortly after the widespread strike was called the union requested the corporation to resume wage negotiations "now that the situation is more acute."

General Motors turned down the proposal, accusing the union of breaking off negotiations by ordering the walkouts and of "lawlessness" in refusing to allow salaried employes entrance into the struck plants.

The company also reiterated its refusal to consider its profits and prices a proper subject for collective bargaining.

The Ford Motor Co., also facing the 30 per cent demand, meanwhile pressed its counter-demand for "company security" with a definite proposal.

Wants Deductions

In its next contract with the UAW-CIO it suggested a provision entitling the company to deduct from union dues collected under the check-off system $5 for each day or fraction thereof any union member is idle in an unauthorized work stoppage.

Terming the proposal "unrealistic," Richard T. Leonard, UAW-CIO Ford director, said it would not guarantee an end to unauthorized strikes.

The Ford Co. has laid off 40,000 employes this week, attributing its action to work stoppages in 15 supplier plants and resultant parts shortages.

Peace Talk Can't Start Too Early, Mackenzie Finds

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP World Traveler

LONDON Nov. 29 — This column ventured the prediction weeks ago that the coming year would largely determine whether we are to have real peace or whether mankind is to commit atomic hara-kiri.

The signs have seemed to me to indicate that in this general period we shall encounter the paramount international problem upon which peace hinges. Among these are the sharp and dangerous differences which have arisen among the Big Three, whose solidarity is synonymous with peace and security.

D. Mackenzie

The corollary to this is that the quicker the new United Nations peace organization gets into action to help settle the difficulties, the better will be our chances of avoiding further conflict.

I've been making inquiries in circles of the preparatory commission which is getting things set for the meeting of the security organization assembly, and have found ready agreement with this thesis.

It is good to be able to report that there is a sense of urgency to get the organization going. Present plans anticipate the meeting of the general assembly the first week in January, and with this as an objective the preparatory commission has set out to finish its work by Christmas.

Will Start Soon

This means that our whole new peace organization will be functioning in a little more than a month if things move as well as expected. Then the world's major problems, both political and economic, can come before the United Nations. Indeed, I heard it suggested yesterday that there might be an international trade conference by June.

One of the earliest questions to be dealt with by the assembly will be the control of atomic energy—a subject which is causing international heartburnings that are smoldering but none the less dangerous. However, there is a wide range of problems which can come before the assembly, for any issue which threatens international tranquility is grist for the peace mill.

If this idea is pursued to its logical conclusion we may see the United Nations organization dealing with some issues which heretofore would have been regarded as not international in character but as purely the business of the nation immediately concerned. Thus a civil war such as now exists in China might become the concern of the world at large since it certainly threatens the peace of more than China.

Respect Sovereignty

This doesn't mean that national sovereignty isn't to be respected. On the contrary there seems to be a very positive determination not to intrude in the purely domestic matters of any country.

There also are likely to be cases where individual countries will turn local proolems over to the United Nations.

Along this line, the Arab-Jewish imbroglio in Palestine is likely to be one of the early questions to come before the assembly. It seems clear that this dispute, which has been hot and at times bloody for a generation, can only be settled by the world court.

leagues that the action of some foreign service personnel in the Far East as described by Hurley "skirts the very edge of treason itself."

Refers to Charge

He referred, Wherry said, to Hurley's contention that "the professional foreign service men sided with the Chinese Communist armed party and the imperialistic bloc of nations whose policy it was to keep China divided against herself."

Wherry introduced a resolution for an all-out investigation of the state department's policies, operations, administration and personnel.

In the house three Republicans, Reps. Jones of Ohio, Herter and Rogers of Massachusetts, and one Democrat, Rep. Gore of Tennessee called for a congressional investigation of Hurley's charges.

"If I am asked to appear before any congressional committee or any official of the government at any time, I will do so," Hurley told a reporter.

CHARGE U. S. "PRESSURE"

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, Nov. 29—The Soviet Tass agency, quoting newspapers in Tehran and Copenhagen, said today that the United States was applying "pressure" on both Iran and Iceland for air bases in the two countries. Tass stated that its dispatches were based on accounts published earlier this week by the Iranian newspaper Rakhbar and the Copenhagen newspaper Politiken. There was no inference that the Soviet government had made either allegation.

JEWISH FESTIVAL TO BEGIN TONIGHT

Marion Congregation Invited to Galion Service.

The Jewish festival of Chanuka, dedication days, will begin tonight at sundown and will continue through Dec. 7, according to a news release from Commission on Information About Judaism of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations and the Central Conference of American Rabbis. A special service in observance of the festival has been arranged by the Galion Jewish congregation for Dec. 4 at Galion, with the Marion Congregation of Israel taking part there.

The festival is celebrated with lighting of lights from Nov. 29 through Dec. 6 in commemoration of the rededication of the Temple at Jerusalem by the victorious Maccabees, 165 B. C. E.

According to information sent out by the commission, the Maccabean struggle was against the Syrian Greek King Antiochus who, "with the aid of the Quislings of those days, tried to destroy the Jewish religion and the worship of one God. So important was this struggle that ethical Monotheism owes its existence to this historic event. The festival is one of the most beautiful and most significant of festivals of any faith. Without this victory neither Mohammedanism, Judaism or Christianity could have survived."

Jap Diet Cool To Royal Plan

Scheme To Retain Emperor System in New Democracy Gets Little Welcome.

By The Associated Press

TOKYO, Nov. 29—Half-hearted applause greeted a suggestion in the Japanese diet today that the emperor system should be perpetuated under a Japanese-style democracy.

Premier Kijure Shidehara and one of Japan's leading reconstruction politicians, Ichiro Hatoyama, both voiced the opinion in an unprecedented legislative discussion in the house.

Hatoyama, leader of the liberal party, drew only polite applause when he said the "emperor system must be retained as bulwark against "possible dictatorships." Shidehara voiced agreement.

The Japanese house of peers must break with ancient precedent and open its doors to the press at all sessions henceforth.

The ruling was issued today by the Japanese liaison section of SCAP (Supreme Commander, Allied Powers) in compliance with the wishes of General MacArthur.

The reluctance of Japan's post-surrender government to get on with reforms until told to do specific things by MacArthur was pounced on today by the Japanese press.

"Has the government ever carried out a great reform without waiting for directives from Allied headquarters?" asked the Tokyo newspaper Yomiuri Hochi in an editorial attack on Premier Kijuro Shidehara's address to the diet yesterday.

Asahi also noted that Shidehara merely recapitulated the occupied country's troubles whereas the people wanted to hear what was to be done about them.

One of the troubles, food, probably will reach the crisis stage by April and continue critical for three months, Lt. Col. H. G. Schenck, chief of the natural resources section of SCAP, said today.

9 Dead, 16 Injured in Army Plane Crash

By The Associated Press

AUBURN, Calif., Nov. 29—Nine men are dead and 16 hospitalized with serious injuries as the result of a C-47 Army transport plane crash near here last night. Officials at DeWitt General hospital said they believed 16 would live.

The big craft, en route to McClellan field, Sacramento, from Palm Springs, Calif., plunged into a mountainside and burned.

All of the 22 passengers aboard are believed to have been Japanese-Americans who fought with the Ninth Air Corps in Italy and were on their way to Camp Beale, Calif., separation center for discharge before being sent to their homes in Hawaii.

TRUMAN PRAISES U. S. RECONVERSION RATE

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29—President Truman said today that the administration has not been asleep on the job of reconversion, in fact, that its program is far ahead of schedule.

The President made this comment at a news conference in releasing a formal statement dealing with the first hundred days of reconversion progress.

In his statement, the President said that unemployment is far less than had been expected; that the job of reconverting war plants "is virtually completed;" and that time lost through work stoppages since August is only "0.76 of one per cent of the total working time available."

While the President in his statement spoke cheerfully of what has been accomplished, he declared that "inflationary pressures are still great, and danger signals pointing to a further building up through winter and spring are the rise of real estate, wholesale and raw materials prices."

"We must continue to hold the line," he declared.

Acknowledging "an upsurge of strikes since VJ-day," Mr. Truman attributed this in part to the fact that all parties "held their grievances in check during the war and observed the no-strike pledge."

W. A. Finton Funeral at Caledonia Friday

Funeral services for William Adam Finton of Caledonia, who died suddenly yesterday morning of a heart attack at the Huber Manufacturing Co. plant, where he was employed, will be held tomorrow at 3 p. m. at the Timson-Allen funeral home in Caledonia. Rev. S. E. Aetzel, pastor of the Memorial M. E. church, will officiate. Special committal services will be conducted by Oliver Lodge No. 447, F. and A. M. Burial will be in the Caledonia cemetery.

PLAIN CITY MAN'S CONDITION CRITICAL

3 Attack Victims Reported Recovering.

Special to The Star

MARYSVILLE, O., Nov. 29—Dan Rausch, 60, was reported in a critical condition in the Madison county jail today where he was lodged early yesterday after attempting suicide at his home in Plain City, south of here.

Union County Sheriff Homer Roosa said Rausch cut his throat with a straight razor after attacking his wife and two daughters with a hammer.

Madison county officials in London reported Rausch refuses food and water and that his condition is critical.

Mrs Virgie Rausch, 60, and her daughters, Edith, 17, and Mary Lou, 15, were reported to be recovering at their home in Plain City where the attack occurred at 1 a. m. Wednesday. Mrs. Rausch has cuts about the head and a deep cut on the face. The daughters were cut about the head.

Union county officials were called to investigate but the case was turned over to Madison county authorities when it was determined the Rausch residence is in that county.

ODDITIES In Ohio News

By The Associated Press

MANSFIELD — The war dies hard. The Mansfield Chamber of Commerce reported a farmer recently asked if there were any War Production Board restrictions against him from cutting some of his trees. He needed lumber to repair his home.

He was assured the WPB went out of existence shortly after the so-called "uncle" Aug. 14—and did not cut the trees.

• • •

COLUMBUS — Gov. Lausche tells this one on himself: He was scheduled to speak at a meeting in Paulding county. Arriving early he took a seat in the grandstand to think over his speech.

A man sat down next to him. Trying to get a local angle on things, the governor asked, "What's happening here today?"

"Don't know 'zactly, but I hear the governor is gonna speak. Ever hear him?"

"Why yes," replied the governor, "on several occasions.

"I never tell," replied the man, "but he's not much good."

• • •

CINCINNATI—A new automobile on display recently in the lobby of the Hotel Gibson, was carefully dusted and shined by an attendant when an elderly lady passed.

Looking at the busy attendant, she asked her escort "do they bring guests' cars in here to clean them?"

• • •

CLEVELAND — Patrolmen Arthur Pagel and Louis T. Wolf saw a man taking a radio from a car and yelled. The man jumped into another car and sped away.

Reporting the escape, the patrolmen described the car: "It had a right rear fender off," said Pagel.

But Wolf reported, "The left rear fender was missing."

Later the police arrested the man driving a car on which both rear fenders were gone.

Marion Chorus To Give Program at Kenton Sunday

Invited to Kenton to sing Sunday night, the Marion Lecture-Recital club chorus has prepared a program to be presened in First Methodist church there at 8 p. m. on that date. Group numbers, with solo and instrumental parts, will be heard, and two Christmas numbers will be included. Dr. F. J. Ensley of Columbus will speak. The meeting is one of a series on world problems being held in the Kenton church. Miss Elizabeth Edgar is chorus director, Miss Rosaline Manzo accompanist, and Mrs. Clara Campbell is president.

There will be an organ processional of the chorus of over 60 voices, and the first group of chorus numbers will include "When Children Pray," Beatrice Fenner; "Shepherds' Christmas Song," William Hunter; and "Ave Maria," Bach-Gounod, with violin obligato by Mrs. Herbert Murphy of Kenton, solo parts by Miss Mary Louise Cook and Miss Grace Cyders, vocal obligato by Miss DeJon Hassell, Mrs. Eleanor Smith, Mrs. Lois Thomas and Mrs. Campbell.

Miss Dorothy Gail Stephenson will sing "The Earth Is the Lord's," Frank Lynes, and the second chorus group will include "I Wonder as I Wander," Niles and Horton. Christmas number; "I Heard a Forest Praying," DeRose; and "Lord's Prayer," Joseph Forsythe.

Hitler's Eagles' Nest Is Top Tourist Attraction for GIs

By PIERRE J. HUSS
International News Correspondent

IN HITLER'S EAGLE'S NEST ON KEHLSTEIN PEAK — G. I. tourist target number one atop this Alpine peak 8,000 feet above Berchtesgaden is breaking all records in the swarms of uniformed visitors daily filing through here wide-eyed and full of wisecracks.

Eager for souvenirs to take home from the "tea house" built for Hitler by the Nazi party at enormous cost in two years of hazardous work ten years ago, many of the Yanks pick up a piece of rock on the mountain shoulder rather than go back empty-handed. They inscribe their names on walls and tables, but the interior of the Eagle's nest in past months has been so thoroughly stripped by souvenir hunters that "verboten" signs have been hung up by the military in all rooms to prevent the chipping and hacking up of floors, walls and fireplace.

Among the many distinguished Allied visitors to this freak house of stone, steel and glass above the clouds recently were General Eisenhower, General Mark Clark and General Tobin, the latter being commander of the 44th Ack-ack Brigade presently occupying Berchtesgaden after departure of the 101st Airborne Division.

Discredits Rumors

"Ike" came on a Sunday, and his presence soon laid low the grapevine rumors coursing through adjacent army camps that the Eagle's Nest was about to be blown to bits by American authorities because it might be a shrt of Hitler shrine to unreformed Germans. This story gained wide circulation, although up to the moment no one has received orders to drill dynamite holes and move the guards.

Eisenhower arrived in Berchtesgaden and drove up to Obersalzberg to see Hitler's gutted house. A convoy of jeeps and trucks loaded with GIs was just forming to go up the hairpin road cut out of solid rock, and the six cars in "Ike's" entourage joined in for a look at the Eagle's Nest.

The distance from Hitler's house on the Obersalzberg to the Eagle's Nest is approximately eight miles. The narrow road and sheer climb make it necessary that only one-way traffic be permitted, therefore each convoy is taken up and guided down by Sgt. George Smith of the 131st Ackack Battalion, Cincinnati O. From four to seven convoys per day negotiate the trip, numbering anywhere from five hundred to one thousand Yanks from buck privates to generals and senators.

Would Be Rich Man

"Yeah, if I could get me hot dog and soda pop concessions from here to the top, I'd be a rich man in a year," Sergeant Smith said mournfully. He forms the convoys outside the palatial "Platterhof" hotel, built within two hundred yards of Hitler's house for the enjoyment of the visiting Quislings, Nazi officials and SS officers. An expensively decorated bar was installed by Hitler's orders as a gift to his mistress, Eva Braun, who gave numerous bar parties and small dances there. Hitler appeared on a few occasions.

Reaching the foot of the actual peak, the convoys disgorge their loads and from then on it means hiking up the road unless the elevator is working. Until Eisenhower arrived, a sign stood outside the elevator tunnel entrance which said: "For Field Grade Officers Only." Eisenhower gave this a fishy eye and said: "Take that sign and throw it away. This is a recreation center. Everyone can ride as long as this elevator works. First come first served."

That sign had been a sore point with GIs, and letters had flooded army publications. The elevator, upholstered in red leather, only takes fifteen persons at a time, and the motor gets overheated from too much use, but it was the principle which interested the GIs. They cheered "Ike" from the seventy-seven vehicles which composed the convoy, one of the longest yet seen on the mountain.

Rooms Stripped Bare

To say the least, there was a terrific jam inside the house on Kehlstein Peak that Sunday. Eisenhower and his group spent about twenty minutes in the rooms and on the veranda, admiring the spectacular view into distant regions.

Gone are the rich furnishings in all chambers and rooms, with the monogrammed Hitler glasses and tablecloths, which greeted our astonished eyes the first week in May when a reconnaissance group which I accompanied climbed the peak over twelve feet of snow.

There was no sign of Hitler or anyone, and no shots came our way, but the exhausting climb of four hours up the peak was rewarded by small stores of 1865 brandy, 1934 Lancon champagne and canned oxtail soup we found on the kitchen shelves.

The man now running the elevator is the same who ran it the few times Hitler went up and the many times Eva Braun took friends up there for gala parties. His name is George Mehr, and he is every-ready to tell GIs or Eisenhower his side of the story.

"Hitler didn't seem to like the teahouse," Mehr will tell you. "He came here only five or six times. He didn't like any elevator to go fast, so I took five minutes to go up with him. He said nothing, but Fraulein Eva was always very much chatty. She had sometimes too much to drink, and there was always much noise at her parties.

"There is a trapdoor under this elevator, where we bring up supplies. When Hitler came up, that compartment was used to bring up his SS bodyguards. I like my job much better. If the elevator gets stuck now, all the Americans know what to do to get it unstuck. If it had ever stuck when Hitler was on it, he would have had a terrible anger, and I would probably have lost my job and my head."

An American flag waves over Bavaria from the shoulder of the peak just outside the broad veranda.

Lennon's Are KITCHEN EXPERTS

Hundreds of homes all over Marion county are proud of their new Kitchens installed by Lennon's. Time and step-saving banks of lustrous, steel or gleaming white wood cabinets. Cabinets that are precision-built. Cabinets that will make your kitchen the loveliest room in your home. Cabinets that will save you hours and hours of hard work every day.

Why not let us help you plan that beautiful, new kitchen for your home? It won't cost you a penny to have our planning department design a kitchen that will be the envy of every one who sees it. A kitchen that will save you hundreds of steps each day.

You just can't put up with an old, time-wasting jumble of appliances in your kitchen. It will cost surprisingly little to build a unit that will put everything into place and make kitchen work a pleasure.

We'll draw up a planned, complete kitchen. You buy the complete outfit at once or, if you prefer, just a piece at a time, but each piece designed to form part of an up-to-the-minute, work-saving unit. You'll be surprised how little it will cost you.

LENNON'S
230 West Center

Why do they think of Lennon's when folks think of LINOLEUM?

Answer—

Because Lennon's sell beautiful kitchens and bathrooms.

Because Lennon's expert mechanics are trained in the Armstrong school.

Because a Lennon installation will save many hours of hard work. Stops scrubbing.

Northwestern Man New Head at Miami

By The Associated Press

OXFORD, O., Nov. 29 — Dr. Ernest Hahne of Northwestern university has been selected to succeed the late Dr. Alfred H. Upham as president of Miami university.

Walter Coles of Troy, O., president of the University's board of trustees, announced today that the board's executive committee of which he is chairman had unanimously chosen Dr. Hahne, and that his name would be presented to the 27-man board next Wednesday.

Dr. Hahne is married and the father of two children.

Dr. Upham died last Feb 17.

FORMER MARIONITE BUYS FUNERAL HOME

Edgar D. Hastings Purchases S. R. Sanders Business.

Purchase of the S. R Sanders undertaking business at Richwood is being announced today by the new owner, Edgar D. Hastings of Richwood. Prior to returning to Richwood Mr. Hastings was in Columbus for four years where he was in government service at the Battelle Memorial Institute as an inspector of captured German and Japanese equipment.

He attended Ohio State university and was graduated from the Cincinnati College of Embalming at Cincinnati. He was associated with the Sanders funeral home from 1938 until 1941 and prior to that time was with the C. E. Curtis & Co. here, the Timson funeral home at Caledonia and the C. L. Deyo funeral home in Columbus. Mrs. Hastings will be associated with the funeral home as lady assistant.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Hastings are former residents of Marion and graduates of Harding High school. Mrs. Hastings, who formerly was Miss Marguerite Alexander, also attended Ohio State university. They have two children, Carol Diane, 6, and Anna Sue, 4. Mr. Hastings is the son of Mrs. R. L. Shrock of 483 Summit street.

Mr. Sanders, who established the funeral home in 1913, plans to remain in Richwood.

Applications for Radio Licenses Reach 1,337

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 29—The latest announced compilation of license applications on file with the federal communications commission at Washington for new broadcast stations of one type or another shows the number has now increased to 1,337.

Of these more than half, or 717, are for FM licenses in the new 88-108 megacycle spectrum. Another block totaling 478 is seeking standard broadcast licenses, while the remaining 142 are for television stations, to operate in the 13 channels spreading from 44 to 216 megacycles.

Yamashita Denies Hand in Atrocities

By The Associated Press

MANILA, P. I., Nov. 29—Direct examination of Lt. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita, testifying in his own defense on war crimes charges, concluded today with the former Philippines commander steadfastly denying any knowledge of atrocities committed by his Japanese Army subordinates.

In response to questions by his defense attorneys, Yamashita admitted close liaison with his various chiefs of staff but snapped an emphatic "no" to a question whether he ever issued any orders for killings or brutal treatment of civilians.

In fact, he testified, he had instructed his subordinates to cooperate with the Filipinos as much as possible.

UNRRA Lists 600 In Black Market Cases

By The Associated Press

HERFORD, Germany, Nov. 29—The United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration has dismissed, suspended or arrested more than 600 of its workers accused of diverting relief supplies into black market, it was announced today.

Leo J. Margolin of New York, chief of the UNRRA information bureau in Europe, said a majority of the workers involved were Americans and Britons employed in the French, American and British occupation zones in Germany. The action followed a two months investigation.

YOUNGSTERS START IN FARMING EARLY

By The United Press

COVINGTON, La.—Nobody can say the next generation of Louisiana farmers didn't get an early enough start in their vocational training.

St. Tammany parish high school students have set up their own agricultural school, and are giving plenty of community service while they learn the practical aspects of their future profession.

The only hatchery and the only cannery in the parish are operated at the school by a class of 188 boys—all from 12 to 18 years old. A 60-acre forestry project is kept up by the students, and they're to plant 10,000 pine seedlings there this year.

During the war the boys helped out neighboring farmers during labor shortages, vaccinated cattle and hogs with school equipment, helped test milk supplies for farmers, and organized conservation work to help the game warden.

This "junior agricultural college" began several years ago with one small Future Farmers of America chapter. A youthful instructor took up the work and made it a vital cog in the life of the community and school.

The boys built a schoolroom, a hatchery and a canning plant. Then they borrowed $1,000, with the school board endorsing the note. Within a year they paid back the loan and the hatchery was making a profit—all of which went into more equipment for their enterprises.

The hatchery boasts a 12,000-egg capacity, and supplies baby chicks to farmers for miles around. Their cannery has turned out 10,000 cans of fruit, vegetables and meat since it was set up in July 1944. Students canned 5,000 cans of food for the school luncheon last year.

The student agricultural project has been so successful that not only the boys, but also the faculty, are plugging for expansion.

Relief At Last For Your Cough

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.

Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics.

No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. (Adv.)

Music As You Work Proves Big Success at Cleveland Bank

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND—Officials of the Federal Reserve bank of Cleveland report a work program featuring cancelled checks and music had been so successful here it might be expanded to other system banks in the country.

For 20 minutes of each hour, employes in the local bank's check collection department have been hearing selections varying from waltzes and semi-classical pieces to the latest dance tunes, officials reported.

"We are well pleased with the results," Alfred H. Laning, vice president and cashier, declared, adding that tunes probably would be enjoyed by workers in other departments soon.

Bank officials became interested in the idea when they learned that music had reduced fatigue in war plants. The check collection department was a bedlam of typewriter, adding and tabulating machine noises where tuneful pieces might have a similar effect, they thought.

A poll was taken to determine whether employes wanted the music and when the idea was approved 161 to 2, officials had 24 loudspeakers installed and signed a contract to have recorded songs piped in.

Pioneer, 82, Divides Scrapbook Collection

By The United Press

LAUREL, Neb. — Mrs. Susie West, 82, Laurel pioneer, ended a 50-year hobby when she recently gave her collection of 13 scrapbooks to friends and relatives.

The scrapbooks include clippings covering a period of 50 years and a variety of subjects, such as a "Family Album," "A History of Laurel," and a "Travelogue" of one of Mrs. West's daughters. One contains a complete history of all servicemen from this area in World War I.

Others have a number of newspaper clippings, news of Laurel's schools, and one on pioneers.

Mrs. West began her collection in the '90s when one of her sons asked her for a "piece to speak" at rural school. After an hours-long hunt for a suitable poem, she resolved such a situation would not happen again.

Some pages of clippings have been sent across the nation to answer questions. Other volumes are almost falling apart from constant use.

Mrs. West has joined a daughter at Sedalia, Mo., and she took one scrapbook with her—the first one.

Electronic Cooked Meals Forecast

By The United Press

LINCOLN, Neb. — The American housewife's hopes of preparing full meals from frozen food lockers and of using electronic heat to cook the food in a few minutes are not "far-fetched dreams, but plans which soon will be realities," according to J. Frank Grimes, president and founder of the Independent Grocers' Alliance of America.

Complete frozen food meals will be available at all modern grocery stores within two years, Grimes predicted. They will be stored in home lockers, where the housewives can keep supplies for as long as a year.

New stoves, utilizing electronic heat, will enable cooks to prepare a raw, frozen roast while the family eats the first course of the dinner.

Grimes foresees a controlled economy in which the prices of food, lodging and clothing will be kept down, as the scale of wages increases. Consumers, he explains, will have more money for non-essentials. Additional employment will be possible, and life will be kept on an even keel.

The greatest variety and finest quality foods ever put on the market will sell at the lowest prices in 50 years in the face of increased wages, he said.

Big Drop Shown In Czech School Children

By The United Press

PRAGUE — Secondary school children's ranks in Czechoslovakia have fallen from 60,257 in 1938 to less than 25,000 at the beginning of 1945, according to government officials.

It was also disclosed that of 2,000 secondary school teachers in the country in 1942, there were 51 sentenced to death and 180 were imprisoned by the Germans.

NOW SHE SHOPS "CASH AND CARRY"

Without Painful Backache

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Thousands watch the face grow younger looking with Endocreme

Sounds too good to be true, doesn't it... that ENDOCREME for eight years now has helped thousands of women regain a more youthful skin of face and throat? But it is true... true to a degree hitherto thought impossible. Yes, ENDOCREME can aid most women to improve and beautify the skin itself, not merely its superficial "look." Only ENDOCREME contains ACTIVOL. This ACTIVOL is a scientific replacement for woman's own natural, skin-vitalizing substance. When you apply ENDOCREME, it is absorbed by the skin to help restore the normal growth of cells and tissues. This aids the skin to become fresher, softer, more radiantly youthful again. How better can you invest your cosmetic dollars? Many report vast improvement in only 30 days.

Early Christmas Shoppers Can Really Pick 'Em This Year

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Writer

That peacetime Christmas shopping list you've been saving for four years may have a few deletions again this year, but if you're a tireless hunter you may find many things that have been missing since before the war.

Biggest, brightest and most eagerly awaited additions to the 1945 Christmas pack are nylon stockings, already piling up in manufacturers' stock rooms. They are due to appear on dealers' shelves in time to supply at least a part of the Christmas rush. Every woman on your list will consider this the gift supreme—but you'd better edit the list well as initial sales will probably be limited to one or two pairs per customer.

House Gifts In Demand

Household gifts, to replace the war-worn equipment of U. S. homes, will be most in demand this Christmas, and no wife will complain in '45 about the gift of a washing machine, a refrigerator, an electric mixer or a vacuum cleaner. All these long-missing items are rolling off assembly lines already, but delivery usually is still on a priority basis—those who have had their names on the list the longest get their orders first.

A few lucky families may even snare a new 1946 model car in time for Christmas—or at least a surplus jeep. And radios are appearing in increasing numbers, though not yet fast enough to supply fully the pent-up demand.

If Sister and Junior are to get those skates, tricycles, metal construction sets and prewar dolls they've been writing to Santa about, you'll have to assist the old gent with the white whiskers by some early and determined shopping. The toy situation still is tight, says the Toy Manufacturers of America. Even though metal restrictions were relaxed after V-J day, less than 5 per cent of the toys available this Christmas will be metal.

Limit On Steel, Rubber Toys

"There will be only a token showing of wheel toys, electric trains and mechanical toys," says James L. Fri, managing director of the toy association. "The only metal toy lines which will be produced in any volume will be the simplest type of stamped-out metal toys."

Rubber toys also will still be scarce, and plastic toys will be available in about the same volume as last year, manufacturers predict. Textile restrictions will continue to limit production of dolls.

The scarcity of toys is further aggravated by the fact that more than five million extra children have been added to the toy age population as a result of the high wartime birthrate, purchasing power is at peak level, and production still has not reached high gear.

Games Are Plentiful

Most plentiful on the toy list will be games—all the old favorites such as Rook, Pit and Flinch as well as newer and fancier word games, and the competitive board games such as Monopoly, Camelot and Bonanza. A limited supply of dart games is available, and toylands will start off with some miniature croquet and bowling games.

The 1945 Christmas doll is going to be hard to find, but when you find her she may have movable eyes once more and say "Mama." She'll have an extensive wardrobe, too and perhaps hair that can be combed.

Babyette dolls, exact models of a newborn baby are available with elaborate layettes, with or without bassinets, and in twin, triplet or quadruplet combinations.

In the masculine gift line, many long-missing items will be available in time for Christmas. These include new streamlined fountain pens, watches, sports equipment, bar equipment, pure silk ties and maybe—if you are lucky—white shirt.

And of course, now that shoe rationing is ended the most popular gift, next to nylons, will be new shoes for all the family.

DEPUTY RIDES GOAT
By The United Press

ROCHESTER, N. Y.—Two sheriff deputies are much wiser to-day on the subject of goats. A six-party rodeo was staged impromptu on the farm of William Stark, when the two deputies attempted to corral four strong-minded gray goats who had made their way into the field among a flock of sheep. After the deputies had made several ineffective passes at the intruders, the goats turned the tables and butted the deputies. In a final desperate effort, one of the deputies grasped the billygoat by the horns, and together they roamed over the field. The "rodeo" ended when the goat was wrestled into the barn, whereupon the three companion animals followed. The deputies and Stark hope that the owner will call for the visitors soon.

PLAN VENISON SUPPER

The Gleaner's Bible class of First Church of the Brethren met at the church Tuesday night. Mrs. Grace Blessing led devotions and Marion Hornbeck presided. Plans were made to hold a venison supper at the church Dec. 13. Members of the class who were hunting in Canada recently will furnish the meat. Deer bagged on the hunting trip are to be shipped from Canada.

GUARD IRAN CAPITAL
By The Associated Press

TEHRAN, Iran, Nov. 29—Azerbaijan insurgent forces, swerving suddenly in their push down the main railroad toward Tehran, apparently had abandoned today any attempt to march upon the Iranian capital itself but Iranian government troops maintained a vigilant watch in the capital.

J. A. Irvine, Former Marion Resident, Dies

Mrs. Clifford Thibaut of 650 Irey avenue received word yesterday of the death of her brother-in-law, James A. Irvine, 48, husband of Mrs. Bertha Eberl Irvine of Sierra Madre, Calif., formerly of Marion. Death occurred suddenly Monday about 1 p. m. following a heart attack. He was a World War I veteran. A brother-in-law, Frank Eberl of south of Marion, also was notified.

Funeral arrangements will be made upon the arrival of a son, Cpl. Stanton Irvine, who is stationed in Belgium with the Air Corps. Burial will be in a California cemetery.

Awards Made At Scout Honor Court

A court of honor for Troop 15 of the Boy Scouts was held Wednesday night at Emanuel Lutheran church with Rivera Curren acting as chairman. Following a potluck supper the court opened with Jim Lytle leading the pledge of allegiance.

Wallace Musgrave and Ray Champer received the Star award, the highest presented last night, and also merit badges. Champer received his badge for poultry keeping and Wallace Musgrave for first aid and bugling. Those awards and presentation of the troop charter were made by Joseph Schlosser, assistant secretary of the Scouts in the Harding area.

Robert Graham presented first class awards to Benson Luke, Fred Keener and Richard Drake. U. L. Anderson presented second class awards to the following: Bill Taylor, Robert Graham, Lester Smith, Paul Berry, Osa Rizor, Jim Nesper, James Bentley and Jim Lytle. Tenderfoot awards were presented to Billy Thomas and Wilbur Cornelius by Gerald Jennings, assistant scoutmaster.

The Eisenhower 1,000-pound awards were given to all scouts present by James Lytle. Ellis Wilson presented the one-year service stars and also made the scout circus awards.

Dwight F. Davis Dies, Was Aide to Coolidge

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29—Dwight F. Davis, secretary of war under President Coolidge and donor of the Davis cup emblematic of the international team tennis championship, died last night at his home. He was 66.

Davis had suffered from a heart ailment for the last six months. With him when the end came were his wife, Pauline; son, Dwight F. Jr., and three daughters, Mrs. Alice D. Makins, Mrs. Cynthia Martin and Mrs. Helen Hernes.

GAS FUMES MENACE GALION RESIDENCES

Special to The Star

GALION, Nov 29—Fortunately there were no casualties here, Tuesday when North Market street homes as far as Whetstone creek were filled with gasoline fumes after gasoline overflowed at the Hi-Speed filling station and ran into the storm water sewer.

The gasoline storage tanks at the filling station overflowed early in the afternoon as a gasoline truck was filling them, and the fuel ran down the street into the storm sewer John P Drouth, sanitary officer of the city, was notified by residents along the main north artery that gasoline fumes were filling their homes, causing illness and presenting the threat of an explosion, Fumes came up into the houses from the sewer through defective plumbing systems. It was reported Doors and windows of the homes were opened

As a result of the accident, Mayor William Amann issued a warning that it is illegal to dump gasoline, cleaning fluid or other inflammable liquid into the sewer system, and in case of an accident officials should be notified immediately.

U. S. Cost for Arms To Remain High Despite End of Fighting

This is the second of five articles prepared to show the dollar and cents cost of victory and what the [illegible] will be needed to be paid by the [illegible]

• • •

WASHINGTON, D. C. Nov. 28—The federal government will spent about $71½ billion for munitions—equipment and operations—during the remainder of the 1945-1946 fiscal year. In order to meet this and other outlays—mostly growing out of war—the treasury department is seeking $11 billion through the Victory Loan.

This estimate for the period from November through next June anticipates a marked reduction in expenditures for these war obligations.

From July 1 through October, the first four months of the fiscal year, the Treasury paid out an estimated $13½ billion for munitions, including almost $5 billion in July, about $3½ billion in August, and around $2½ billion for each of the months of September and October.

Here are some of the reasons why as much as $71½ billion will be spent for munitions during the next eight months.

1. A large portion of munitions expenditures will go for such operating items as oil, gasoline and ship repairs rather than for new equipment. These items will continue as long as the Army and Navy exist.

2. Some of the $71½ billion represents the cost of munitions completed before V-J day or shortly thereafter.

3. There is a time-lag between delivery of munitions and the reflection of their cost in Treasury expenditures. In other words, because of this time-lag munitions deliveries will run to about $8 billion as compared with $71½ billion actual outlays for munitions in the last eight months of the fiscal year.

Secretary of the Navy James Forrestal has recommended to congress that the United States retain a peacetime Navy of 1,082 ships. The Navy department has estimated that the cost of such a fleet would be about $3½ billion a year. About two-thirds of this would be to cover maintenance and operation, charges that come under the general heading of munitions.

During the next eight months the government is expected to spend $18½ billion on direct war costs other than munitions, comprising $11 billion for military pay and subsistence and $7½ billion for miscellaneous war costs, including transportation for GI's back to the United States, the maintenance of occupation posts in conquered nations, cancellation of war contracts and other items.

North Carolina textile mills consume one-fourth of all the cotton used in this country.

AP CHANGES BYLAWS AFTER COURT DECREE

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 29—Associated Press members adopted yesterday amendments to the association's bylaws to conform to a federal court decree respecting admission to membership.

The members also balloted at a special meeting in the Waldorf Astoria hotel on four applicants for membership. Marshall Field of the Chicago Sun, who earlier had requested a regular membership and the night report, asked for an associate membership.

The other applicants, which were for regular membership, were: Hearst Publications, Inc., Oakland, Calif., Post-Enquirer, day report; Times Publishing Company, Detroit Times, day report; and Eleanor Medill Patterson, Washington, D. C., Times-Herald, day and night report.

The motion to elect the applicants was made by Paul Bellamy of the Cleveland Plain Dealer and seconded by Robert R. McCormick of the Chicago Tribune.

Follows Court Action

The special meeting was held as a result of a U. S. district court decree, affirmed by the supreme court, that the A P, members, in voting on applications for membership, must disregard possible competitive effects on existing members.

In conformity with this decree this amendment to the by-laws was adopted:

"In voting upon an application for membership, whether such voting be by the members or by the board of directors, no member or director shall take into consideration in passing upon such application the effect of his or its admission upon the ability of such applicant to compete with members in the same city and field." (Morning, evennig or Sunday).

Comment on Order

The board of directors, commenting on the court decision, said:

"Individually, the board as laymen desire to record their unanimous belief that the decision of both the lower court and that of the supreme court sustaining it constitute an unmistakable assumption of legislative powers by the judiciary.

"The Associated Press is not a monopoly nor does it tend to become a monopoly. What The Associated Press was charged with was that its product is so superior that its service is essential to a successful newspaper—and on this charge it was convicted!

"The Associated Press was formed and has continued to grow throughout the years as a national cooperative news gathering and distributing organization dedicated to two purposes. First, that it gather for its members, a non-partisan report of the news in the broadest sense. Second, that the members control its affairs including the selection of those to be associated in this effort.

"The supreme court has denied, in part at least, the second of our objectives. It becomes therefore even more vitally important that The Associated Press strengthen its form of organization that it may continue to carry out the first of these objectives with full vigor and energy."

Musical Program Given by Granges

A musical program was presented by members of Progressive and Grand Prairie Granges at a meeting of the latter grange Tuesday night at the Grand Prairie school. Mrs. Wallace Linn was in charge.

Thanksgiving thoughts were presented by Mrs. Charles Brady and a musical skit was by Mrs. Robert Blank, Mrs. David Hughes and Miss Virginia Epley. Other numbers included a saxophone duet, Marjorie Gorsuch and Mary Alice Linn, accompanied by Miss Ruth Dreyer; readings, Joy McGlone; piano solo, Miss Dreyer; clarinet duet, Helen Barkley and Helen Lyon; reading, Mrs. O. G. McGlone; musical skit, Milan Gerby, Robert Blank and Albert Click; instrumental quartet, Marjorie Gorsuch, Mary Alice Linn, Helen Barkley, and Helen Lyon.

Announcement was made of the Ohio State Grange convention in Columbus Dec. 10-13 when Pomona members will receive the sixth degree. Because of this session Grand Prairie Grange voted to hold one meeting in December, a Christmas party Dec. 18. A gift exchange will be held, and Mrs. Hosea Kelly, Mrs. W. G. Denison and Mrs. Paul Lill will serve during a social hour.

HIT BY 4 DRIVERS, DIES

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Nov. 28—George Meyer, 71, was killed last night when knocked to the ground by an automobile and then run over by three other cars, police reported. Witnesses told police that none of the three vehicles stopped or changed speed after passing over his body.

25TH INFANTRY DIVISION
(Tropical Lightning)

Two months after it was activated, the 25th was burying its dead. Fought off Guadalcanal early in 1943. Was in New Georgia in battle for the vital Munda airfield. Cleaned up Arundel island and secured Vella Vella island. Landed on Luzon on D-Day plus two. Took San Manuel in savage five-day battle. In Luzon fight knocked out more than 250 enemy tanks and killed more than 6,500 Japs.

Group Sends Gifts to Yanks in Hospital

Plans for a Christmas exchange and potluck supper party were announced at a meeting of the C. M. Ladies Auxiliary Tuesday night at the Armory. Mrs. Vera Young of Monroe street will be hostess for the party, set for Dec. 18 at 7 p. m. Mrs. Connie Spicer presided during the business session, which included a report by Mrs. Dorothy Fogle of a Thanksgiving box sent by the auxiliary to Fletcher General hospital at Cambridge. Plans were started for a Christmas box. It was decided the unit will "adopt a brother" at the hospital. Definite plans for regular contact with a veteran who has no family will be completed soon. A report of the last meeting was given by Mrs. Alma Edgington, secretary-treasurer. A social hour followed during which cards were played.

YULE PARTY PLANNED

Plans were begun for a Christmas party by the Protected Home Circle No. 184, at a meeting held Friday night in the Democratic hall. Several applications were received. Dancing and card games were enjoyed during the social hour. A meeting of the Junior Protected Home Circle preceded the senior group's meeting. A program was conducted by members with the assistance of Mrs. Dorothy Eaton and Mrs. Laura Kraus.

Shanghai Is Fascinating City—but Who Would Want To Stay?

By HAL BOYLE
AP Feature Writer

SHANGHAI — A pretty young Chinese girl stood half-hidden in the shadows of the iron girders of Soochow creek bridge from the darkness below drifted up the sleepy cry of some child turning restlessly in the small river-boat that was his home, school, workshop and playground

As each passerby walked over the Soochow bridge the Chinese girl came out from her shelter in the girders and tried to sell him some articles she held clasped in both hands She was one of a half dozen outdoor merchants who use the bridge as a salesroom

Hal Boyle

Curious to see her wares, I paused, and she first tried to sell me a large sack of peanuts for 20 cents Next she held up a cheap statute of Buddha, who still seems able to keep up his stone grin despite the poverty and misery of China

"How much?" I asked

"Eighty cents," she answered I shook my head, and then she held out the third piece of merchandise —a small, leather-covered object with a braided leather thong.

"Two dollars," she said

I asked her what it was, and she swung it vigorously, as if she were cracking down a skull, and laughed merrily I saw then it was a blackjack and before I could walk on she had cut the price from a dollar and a half to $1.

Interesting City

I passed up the purchase because there was nobody around at the moment I wanted to clip, but the experience convinced me that of all oriental cities Shanghai is least disappointing to a newcomer. Where else in the world would you run across a pretty native girl at night peddling blackjacks at one buck each?

That was more impressive even than the oft-quoted statement that for $50 you could get anyone murdered here In Brooklyn several years ago, when "Murder, Inc" was riding high, that figure would have been considered exorbitant. The average man didn't have enough enemies to justify such an investment.

In Shanghai only uncouth practitioners of highway robbery employ knives, guns or blackjacks. It is considered much more subtle and profitable to do it with a price-tag.

But despite all complaints being made against Shanghai merchants by American service personnel their prices are no higher than merchants charge in Hongkong Singapore or Tokyo I don't like a large city where you won't be clipped as long as you don't have seven cents enough to buy a cup of chop suey before they hock you The Chinese have no monopoly on such places. You can find them in any country on the globe

Has Its Good Side

And Shanghai has much to be said for it on the credit side More than any city in the Far East it is mysterious and exciting—a true wonderland of mixed-up peoples and strange sights and sounds, where women refugees beat rickshaw boys during fare disputes and somebody is throwing firecrackers at all hours You have that strange small-boy feeling that "anything can happen here" and you can buy a mink coat for $350

There are seedy counts and former nobility from half a dozen countries in every bar and lounge and one way you can't make the grade is to buy them a drink The streets are generals and diplomats playing "chess under the table" with mothy princesses and intrigue everywhere as thick as cigaret smoke And everybody is working on an angle—just like in Hollywood

No city could be more cosmopolite In one hotel lounge I counted 14 nationalities—American, English, Chinese, Russian Polish, Danish, Indian, Iraquian Swedish, Greek Swiss, Austrian German and Czechoslovakian The place was a babel.

One Yanks Likes It

This city by the Whangpoo river is the world-to-be in miniature—full of ambitious frustrations and secret dealings. It is perhaps the most interesting place in the world, yet I have met only one American soldier who wants to stay here

He is Tech Sgt. Harry D Pole of Hackettstown, N J, who spent 10 months on "rice paddy duty" in west China with the Chinese First army and says he is willing to catch the last boat home

"I'd just as soon put my time in here," he said, "I don't want to be dumped at home now I think there's more here for me for a while. Back home I'd just be another soldier looking for a job"

VETERANS GET FIRST 'DEFROSTED' PERMITS

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O Nov 29 The first permits to be issued since the restoration of defrosting of beer and liquor by the repeal of the state liquor law at that point ago went today to a Marion man

One recipient was Roger H Cass 21 route 4 Cass an honorable discharged U S Marine Corps veteran who will be permitted to sell beer and wine at D-1 and D-2 permits

He said the liquor application was one of Aug 31 of the sons in the Navy and a daughter just out of the Women's Army Corps were interested in the business

Another receiving a private club D-4 permit is the American Legion Harold Kerr Post 173 in Belle Center

Liquor Director Robert M Sabiers a veteran of the First World War himself said these two applications were granted first partly because of the military angle Others in the backlog of 2,500 to 3,500 will be granted in order of receipt from each county, considering the counties alphabetically from each end of the alphabet

The number of permits allowable was frozen by the state liquor board in 1941 because of threatened shortages of whisky and beer The board lifted the restrictions on beer wine and private club permits Oct 17 the action becoming effective Oct 27 whisky and night club permits remain frozen

OPA LAUNCHES PLAN FOR MORE FURNITURE

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov 29 OPA today announced a plan designed to increase production of relatively low and medium-priced furniture

Scheduled to go into effect early next year the program provides for manufacturers' price increases ranging from 4 to 2 per cent for roughly two-thirds of various types of home furniture each firm produced during March 1942

There has been no decision yet whether the public will have to pay more

It all depends said an OPA statement on the outcome of conferences to determine how much of the manufacturers' increase if any can be absorbed by wholesalers and retailers

If cost absorption is required, dealers' mark-ups would be trimmed but not to an extent that would cut profits below pre-war levels

"Whether or not complete absorption is required," OPA said, "consumers should benefit greatly by the program since it will bring back to the market the low and medium - priced furniture that largely disappeared during the war"

OPA said that from March 1942 to September 1945, prices householders paid for new furniture increased about 25 per cent, while the overall cost of living climbed 13 per cent

The furniture price boost occurred even though manufacturers thus far have been granted only a five per cent increase over March 1942 prices

Under the new program manufacturers will be required to list the products they had for sale in March 1942 together with prices charged They then divide this list into three price lines—low, medium and high

Fried Chicken a Favorite

OLD-FASHIONED FRIED CHICKEN . Food for a king . .

By CHARLOTTE ADAMS
Associated Press Food Editor

It's good to have chicken back in plenty isn't it? And chicken is good of course in many ways—but the favorite is fried

There are several schools of chicken-frying each very severe very critical and each denying that any other exists At risk of parts and garlic Fry briskly until incurring wrath, I will say at once that I belong to the fry-in-a-little—if school rather than the deep fat one For these times, this is a good thing Even though you consider it a desecration to fry ing chicken in a bit of bacon fat some day It's good It's good, too fried in butter or margarine

To Fry a Chicken

Into a paper sack put some flour, seasoned with salt, pepper and paprika Half a cup of flour is enough to coat a pretty big chicken Shake each piece of chicken in this bag separately, until well coated with flour Pop each into the hot fat in your frying pan as soon as it's floured Brown fast If you are frying a lot of chicken, use two big pans and when the fat begins to be full of particles, pour it out (Be sure to save it) and start with clean fat When all the pieces are brown pour in just enough water to keep pieces from sticking and simmer very gently for about 20 minutes to half an hour Remove pieces of chicken to a hot platter and make gravy of whatever kind you like If you've previously poured off some fat add it to the pan for making gravy One of the best cream gravies for fried chicken is made simply by pouring sour cream into the pan drippings and heating it up Use sweet cream if you prefer but don't add any extra thickening My school says that cream gravy for chicken should be rich, but thin

Here's a beautiful dish to serve with fried chicken It's something like Chinese Fried Rice, with my own additions

Fried Rice—Adams

Two cups cooked cold rice, 2 eggs, 2 tablespoons fat, 6 scallions, 1 small clove garlic, 2 tablespoons green pepper, 1 large ripe tomato

Melt one tablespoon fat in big skillet Beat eggs and turn them into skillet Fry until completely done Remove and cut into shreds with a sharp knife Place rest of fat in skillet, and when it is melted turn in the rice, scallions cut up fine (including the green that any other exists At risk of parts) and garlic Fry briskly until the rice is well browned, stirring frequently Add green pepper and tomato, cut up coarsely, and heat over low fire for five minutes. Add egg shreds, stir well, and serve

All you need to make this meal absolutely perfect are hot biscuits, a green vegetable (peas, snap beans spinach or broccoli) and some currant jelly to complement the flavor of the chicken Dessert? Well, yes, if you can hold it! How about an apple pie with good Cheddar cheese?

Harding Sparkles in 38-27 Win Over Delaware Willis in Cage Opener

Holliday Bags 17 Points, Feaver 12, in Flashy Game

By BILL COULTER

Harding's Presidents opened their 1945-46 cage season with a bang last night as they overpowered the Delaware Willis quintet on the latter's court 38-27. Dick Holliday, Harding center, proved he has not lost the scoring habit since last season as he poured 17 points through the enemy's net to cop individual scoring honors.

Laurie Feaver, veteran Prexy forward, found the hoop for a dozen points to place second in the evening's scoring. The Prexies as a whole showed up remarkably well for the first game and have many good ball handlers combined with some sharp-shooting. Max Bell led the Delaware attack with 10 points.

Harding led all the way and Willis never was closer than two points to the Marionites. The Prexies held a 9-7 first quarter lead and stretched it into a 19-13 halftime advantage. The third quarter proved to be Delaware's downfall as Harding brought the score up to 31-19.

Get 7 Points at Start

The Presidents hit for seven markers in the opening frame before Willis could garner a score. These seven tallies came as a result of a free throw by Holliday, two spot shots by Feaver and a long by Henry Fields. Bell put Willis into the game with a push shot followed by a charity toss and a long. Feaver added another spot shot before the period came to a close and Merle Loader connected for a long for Delaware.

To open the second quarter the teams traded tallies with Holliday and Loader making the deal. Harding then added six more points on two sucker shots by Feaver and a push shot by Dave Lee. Bell and Loader accounted for two quick Delaware baskets on a tip-in and a long. Holliday brought the first half to a close by adding a sucker shot to the Prexy cause and the score at the half stood at 19-12 in favor of Harding.

Open Scoring Spree

The Prexies had their big quarter in the third. Holliday made good two free throws and hit for three quick dribble in sucker shots. Feaver kept the ball rolling with a sucker shot and Lee broke up a Delaware pass and dribbled in for another Harding score. Bell contributed a push shot for Willis. Tom Gallant made good one of two free throws and Loader toed the line and tossed in a free throw before the half of the third period. Harding now was out in front by a 31-19 count.

In the final frame, Harding tried to hold onto the ball and keep Willis from scoring. They were fairly successful inasmuch as they added seven more to their steadily mounting score and held the opposition to eight harmless points. Holliday netted a pair of sucker shots for the Prexies, followed by a dribble-in by Fields. Bell connected for a free throw followed by a pair of buckets by Nate Wilson and Gallant. Jim Riley tallied the final Harding score by making good a free throw after being fouled by Wilson.

Due to last minute developments, Coach Bohyer was forced to make a few changes in his starting lineup.

Reserves Win Too

It was a perfect evening for Harding as the Vice Presidents came out on top in their game with the Willis JV's, 19-13. Herb Phillians, Jim Kramer, Dick Armbruster and Don Zeisler shared scoring honors for Harding as each connected for three points. Ruffner was the Willis high point man with seven.

OHIO RACE TRACKS TO GET TOTALIZERS

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 29—The state racing commission informed Gov. Lausche yesterday that Ohio's four one-mile tracks had been ordered to install totalizers for the 1946 racing season.

The tracks are River Downs at Cincinnati, Thistle Down and North Randall at Cleveland and Beulah Park, near Columbus.

The commission also announced that a steward would be hired to report all phases of race track operations.

The meeting was requested by Gov. Lausche to determine what the commission intended to do about the criticism leveled at the track operations during the last session of the general assembly.

Commission Chairman Isaac J. Collins of Lancaster said statistics of income derived by other states would be studied to determine whether there should be an increase in the Ohio tax on race track wagering.

The tax now is computed on a graduated scale based on the amount wagered. It came to about 1.8 per cent of total last year.

Florida Fans Await Opening Bugle for Record Race Season

By The Associated Press

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 29—High-stepping thoroughbreds were prancing at Gulfstream park today, ready for the bugle Saturday that will herald Florida's longest racing season — and what horsemen predict will be an all-time bonanza at turnstiles and betting windows.

The jinx that destined Gulfstream to five years of litigation and 25 days of racing since its foundation in 1939, was in danger of being trampled to death.

A meager 300-odd bangtails were on hand last year for the Gulfstream meeting that was ended abruptly after 20 days by a government ban on transportation of animals.

This year officials have pitched three tents to house under "big tops" the overflow among the 650 thoroughbreds raring to go in the 40-day meeting.

Gulfstream will run through Jan. 16 when Hialeah takes up for 40 days, closing on March 5.

94-Pounder Massages Powerful Aggie Muscles

AP Newsfeatures

STILLWATER, Okla.—The Oklahoma A. & M. football team claims the smallest trainer in captivity, 94-pound, five-foot Robert (Pee Wee) Williams.

Williams always wanted to be an athlete but had to stay on the sidelines because of his size. He can massage a muscle with the best in the profession.

But he doesn't use the accepted technique. If a burly player flops down on the table and yells for a rubdown, Pee Wee mounts his back, settles down comfortably and starts rubbing.

He's the target for affectionate kidding but Pee Wee always has an answer.

One husky getting a heat treatment yelled at the pint-sizer, "I'm burning, Pee Wee. Get me outa here!"

"I though I smelled fried ham," he shot back as he sniffed the air.

Pee Wee, a junior in college, wants to be a coach when he graduates.

He takes athletics seriously and is an accredited high school basketball official.

When asked if the towering basketballers ever gave him any trouble, Pee Wee thought for a second, then nodded.

"Yep, they do sometimes. I tell them if they don't quiet, someone'll get hurt. I walk away. Never got hurt.

The mite's ambition since started at A. & M. has been play on the varsity football t He almost got his chance when Aggies trounced Texas Chr in the Cotton Bowl last year Coach Jim Lookabaugh could find Pee Wee.

"Maybe it was best," Wil philosophizes.

Pee Wee thought he had scheme to get to play in a reg game this season. He prac placekicking, hoping that L baugh would send him in t for extra points.

But the Aggie mentor the idea because it might give impression he was sending 80-pounder to make his opp look ridiculous.

Coaches picture Pee Wee perfect scale model of a player. With his sample-size ball uniform, he can get off fect kicks, pass and run they're just on scale.

Pee Wee's father, who was Army cook for 30 years be retiring at Fort Sill, Okla. couple of years ago, is not m bigger than his son.

The toughest job Pee Wee attempted? He says it was try to be trainer for both the N and the South in the annual Ok homa All-Star high school ball game last August.

"I was so busy running back and forth from one side to the other, I wished I had brought my bicy along."

TEXAS FAVORED TO BEAT AGGIES TODAY

By The Associated Press

COLLEGE STATION, Texas, Nov. 29—Texas and Texas A. and M. battle today for some pretty high stakes, among them being Southwest conference glory and a spot in the Cotton Bowl, but that's no more important than the deep-seated rivalry that has put this annual game at the top of the gridiron hit parade.

Texas will be seeking its third conference championship in four years; A. and M. will be fighting for a piece of that title and to wreck the Longhorns' football dreams.

The Cotton Bowl will be watching the game from a calculating angle; what to do if A. and M. wins and throws the conference race into a three or four-way tie. The champion, you know, is host team in the Dallas gridiron classic but just what team would be picked under that circumstance is what's causing Cotton Bowl officials sleepless nights.

20 GRANTED LETTERS AT UPPER SANDUSKY

Twenty members of the Northern Ohio league championship football squad at Upper Sandusky High school won varsity letters, Coach Earl Shaffer announced yesterday.

Winners of letters were Jack Houser, Donald Sweigard, Earl Thomas, Robert Schnelker, Robert Wolfe, Ray Smalley, Paul Culmes and William Boles, seniors; Dean McAllister, Thomas Thiel, Eugene Rife, Rex Vent, Wayne Rittenspach, Paul Brown, David Busick, Joe Denman, Homer Mavis, Jack Armstrong and Arden Moser, juniors, and Carroll Kent, sophomore.

Upper Sandusky was undefeated in nine games during the past season.

Wrestles Here Tonight

Plenty of action is on tap tonight at the Marion Armory when Buddy Knox meets Frankie Hart in the one hour semi-final to the Billy Fox vs. Steve Nenoff main event.

The main event is a return match between Sgt. Billy Fox and Steve Nenoff. Steve beat Fox about five weeks ago in the only defeat the Marine had lost since coming back from the South Pacific. Their match tonight will even the score or mark up another loss for Fox. The one hour semi-final is a bell-ringer because both Buddy Knox and Frankie Hart are well known here for their past action and their match tonight should be just that, with Knox furnishing the rough stuff. A prelim will open the show at 8:30. Call 2745 after six for reservations.—Adv.

Navy Adds Illness To Its Worry List

By The Associated Press

ANNAPOLIS, Md, Nov 29 — Navy had an added worry today —whether Guard Jim Carrington will be able to play—as the Middies packed seabags to shove off for Philadelphia and Saturday's big game with Army

Carrington had a temperature of 100 before yesterday's last long workout, and the Middies coach, Commdr Oscar E Hagberg, sent him to bed

Hagberg later said that Carrington had a cold and was "feeling lousy"

Hagberg added that he expects Carrington to be ready to start against Army but further check will be made of his condition

Should Carrington's illness hang on, Stan Turner, an experienced and able understudy, would be in line for the starting right guard position

Two other Navy regulars, End Leon Bramlett and Tackle Bo Coppedge, have shoulder injuries but Hagberg said they will be in there Saturday"

After yesterday's drill, one of the longest of the season, Navy men said the Middies realize they must go out and score three or four times to stay in the running with Army's mighty machine.

"We've come along rapidly on the attack in our last few games," they added. "The team's spirit is the highest in years. Maybe that's because this is the first time in a long time that Navy is an established underdog. The Middies always are at their best under those conditions"

STATLER PAYS OPA BILL

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Nov 29—In what regional OPA officials called the largest price panel settlement ever made in this district, the Hotel Statler paid the U S treasury $29,555 in damages following a suit brought by the OPA on alleged overcharges. The OPA claimed the hotel overcharged for coffee and that a 20-cent increase in meal costs resulted when the hotel eliminated full course dinners in favor of a la carte prices

World's Champion Jockey 41 and Still Riding

By ED CREAGH
Associated Press Writer

MARLBOROUGH, Eng.—There is a little man, no bigger than a pint of cider, who lives in a big gabled house horseboats, and is reported to make more money in a year than the prime minister and Winston Churchill put together

"And why not?" they ask pridefully at the neighborhood pub. "Could either of them ride a horse like Gordon Richards?"

Best In History

No jockey in British history has been able to ride like Gordon Richards, who brought home his 3,000th winner not long ago and thereby established a mark that no rider of his generation is within sight of equalling.

He is a confident, smiling little man—his weight never tops 114 or falls below 110—with a steady eye a body like whipcord and strong, sensitive hands that a violinist, or a pickpocket, might envy

"I keep 'em soft," says Gordie gentleman farmer and pigeon fancier in his spare time "by never doing any work with 'em"

"Work" to him doesn't include riding 900 to 1,000 horses a year and bringing in at least 100 of them as winners. He has been champion British jokey for 18 of the past 20 years—one year he was out sick—and has held the all-time record for winners since 1943

Salary Way Up

Before the war cut all jockeys' earnings, Richards was estimated to have made well over £10 000 ($40 000) a year Some reckoned his income at more than twice that figure Prime Minister Attlee's salary is £10 000, Churchill's is £6,000 ($24 000)

Richards rides to work in a big black $5,000 ($20,000) limousine and until the war broke out he liked to go to Switzerland for the winter sports, but friends say much of his income is salted away for his wife and three youngsters

Jack, 17, the eldest, has long been slated to replace his father in the saddle

"He rides like a dream" Richards says, "but I'm afraid he's going to be too big He's growing like smoke"

Time was when Britain's No 1 jockey, though he never touches tobacco, would have a pint of beer with the boys, but for the past year a duodenal ulcer has kept him on a strict milk diet

He says "I was afraid it would cut my strength, but it hasn't I never felt fitter"

41 Years Old

A Shropshire lad and the son of a miner, Gordon slid into the saddle from a clerk's stool at the age of 16 He now is 41, an age when many a rider has long since grown fat and wheezy

"I'll retire when I've stopped riding winners," he says, although it's doubtful if he would quit even then unless he had a Derby victory to his credit—the one turf distinction that somehow has eluded him.

They say around the stables that Richards will ride anything —unlike many expert jockeys.

Warren Breaks Off Rivalry with Niles

By The Associated Press

WARREN, O, Nov 29—The 48-year-old athletic rivalry between Warren and Niles McKinley High schools was ended today

Warren's athletic commission refused to renew a football contract with the Niles school and revoked an existing contract for a series of basketball games at the commission's regular meeting yesterday

H B. Turner, commission president, said poor sportsmanship and unnecessary roughness in a football game between the two schools this past season led to the decision.

Last Marshall Warning Aired

hostile action possible at any moment."

Let Japs Start It

"If hostilities cannot be avoided," the message continued, "the United States desires that Japan commit the first overt act."

The message directed the two commanders to "undertake such reconnaissance and other measures as you deem necessary but these measures should be carried out so as not alarm civil population or disclose intent."

The same day, Washington messaged the Army intelligence department at Hawaii that Japanese negotiations had come "to practical stalemate." It said that "hostilities may ensue," adding that "subversive activities may be expected."

In reply to Marshall's telegram, MacArthur replied "reconnaissance has been extended and intensified in conjunction with the Navy."

"Within the limitations imposed by the present state of development of this theater of operation," MacArthur's message said, "everything is in readiness for the conduct of a successful defense." He said "intimate liaison and cooperation and cordial relations exist between Army and Navy."

Alerted for Sabotage

Short reported Nov. 28 that his department was "alerted to prevent sabotage" and that there was "liaison with Navy." The same day the adjutant general's office advised Short to take all precautions "against subversive activities" but not to take any "illegal measures."

The next day Short sent a long message to Marshall in which he told of precautions taken to prevent subversive activities and to protect Army and civilian installations. He ended the report with the note that "relations with FBI and all other federal and territorial officials are and have been cordial and mutual cooperation has been given on all pertinent matters."

RYE FUTURES WEAK; HOG PRICES SLUMP

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Nov. 29—Rye futures were weak today, dropping more than two cents a bushel at times under scattered selling. Wheat held firm on continued good cash demand, while oats were lower.

The OPA announced ceilings covering the 1946 rye crop at a basis of $1.42 a bushel, Chicago, for No. 2 grade with a moisture content of 14 per cent or less. This price was the same as had been announced tentatively, and upon which the Board of Trade had based its $1.44⅛ futures ceilings for next July and September delivery.

Oats slumped in sympathy with another sharp drop in hog prices here. The general hog market was 25 to 40 cents lower. Liberal receipts and an accumulation in packer pens were important factors in the decline.

U. S. Had Predicted Thailand Invasion

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27—Army intelligence officers guessed on Nov. 27, 1941—ten days before the Pearl Harbor attack—that Japan's next military move would be an invasion of Thailand.

This estimate was disclosed in a memorandum by Brig. Gen. Sherman Miles, then acting assistant chief of intelligence, which was filed today with the senate-house committee investigating the Pearl Harbor disaster.

Miles told Gen. George C. Marshall, former Army chief of staff, that it then appeared evident the Japanese had "completed plans for further aggressive moves in southeastern Asia."

"These plans will probably be put into effect soon after the armed forces feel that the Kurusu mission is a definite failure," Miles' report said. "A task force of about five divisions, supported by appropriate naval and air units, has been assembled for the execution of these plans."

Reported Movement

Miles' report noted that the Manila naval district had reported a Japanese task force, headed by three or four battleships and three carriers, was steaming toward an unknown concentration point. This was not the force which made the Pearl Harbor strike, previous testimony showed. That one had left Japan a day or so earlier.

A Dec. 5 estimate for Marshall on the forthcoming military developments in December, January, February and March carried the statement that Japanese leaders "aware of the peril of further military adventures" wanted "to avoid a general war in the Pacific."

The intelligence division said Japan had several lines of action open to it. It listed these as follows:

Attacks on Siberia or the Yunnan province of China; occupation of Thailand; attacks through Thailand on Burma and the Burma road or Malaya; attacks on the Philippines and Hong Kong, preparatory to assaults on Singapore or the Netherlands East Indies.

MARION UNIONS

Ashtabula balloted 83 to 80 against a walkout. Ohio Scrap Iron Co. workers at Warren defeated the measure by a five to three vote, while Lancaster employes of the Hocking Valley Manufacturing Co. opposed a strike by a 42 to 26 margin.

The board said the only unanimous vote recorded was that on 37 Republic Steel Corp scrap yard employes at Cleveland who balloted for a strike with no negative ballots cast and one vote declared void.

Republic Vote High

"The best showing in favor of a strike was made in plants of the Republic Steel Corp. where the management would not permit the vote to be taken on the company property," asserted William F. Donovan, regional union director.

Of 7,602 Cleveland Republic Steel Corp. workers eligible to vote, 4,641 cast ballots, 3,986 voting for a strike, 617 agains; and 38 votes were declared void.

TRAIN

seals attached to many of the items provided an additional reminder of the necessity for the Victory Loan.

Chief attractions were reproductions of the German and Japanese surrender documents and the gold, diamond-encrusted baton which once belonged to Hermann Goering. Valued at $300,000, the baton is loaned to the exhibit by President Truman, to whom it was presented by the late Gen. Alexander Patch.

Included among the other exhibits were pieces of Army equipment ranging from mess kits to a Sherman tank. Sections were devoted to airborne troops, infantry, engineers, and medical corps. Scattered throughout the car were dummies dressed and equipped in the style of the various branches of the ground forces.

The train left Marion at noon enroute to Akron, where it will be on display this afternoon.

LOVE'S FAIR HORIZON

By ADELE GARRISON

THE minute I opened the door to our returning houseparty, Faith broke away from her grandmother's hand, ducked under my lifted arm as I held the door open, and rushed across the room to her father's wheel chair. He held out his arms as she came, and she dashed into them.

"Oh, Daddy!" she caroled, and there was such love and music in her voice that we all stopped to listen.

Seemed Years

"Its seemed years since I left you," she said extravagantly. "I don't mean I didn't like it down at Cousin Mary's. I did, a lot, but—oh, Daddy, I haven't had you for so long! Gee! I do love you so!"

Her arms were tight around her father's neck, choking him so that he could not have spoken if he had wished to do so. But I guessed that he was glad of the respite. His eyes were misty as they looked at me across the little girl's head, and I was sure his voice, when he got it back, would be husky.

"Don't scold her, Margaret, for breaking away like that," my mother-in-law admonished me.

"Scold her!" I repeated incredulously. "I'm more apt to hug her until she loses her breath."

"That's the way we all feel," Mary said as she came last into the room. Noel was gallantly escorting my mother-in-law, and did not leave her until he had put her into a comfortable arm chair. "Faith has kept us all a bit wary around the lashes with the way she's been showing her joy over her daddy coming home."

Making Talk

"I suppose the boys went to the matinee they've been counting on so much," I said, conscious that I was making talk. The thought of the photographs of Mary, the ones which Georges had given me, were weighing on me, because I was wondering how I was going to get an opportunity to give them to her without Noel's suspecting that something out of the ordinary was going on.

Another question, too, was on my mind—that of announcing the news of Georges' departure.

But Noel solved that problem for me, without, I knew, meaning to do so.

"Your father is not here?" he asked. "I did not know he meant to go away."

Took Georges to Hideaway

"Yes, he left shortly after you people did," I said. "You see he had to take Georges to the hideaway in preparation for his going overseas."

"You mean Georges is gone—is not coming back—that we shall not see him again?" Noel asked.

I told myself that he had unusual histrionic talent, or that he had succeeded in training his emotions to a point where jealousy of Georges was banished for the moment. But I trembled as I imagined how quickly it could be brought back from exile again.

The thing to do was to keep the general conversational ball rolling, and, knowing that my father would be willing to trust all the people in the room, and keeping the conversation above Faith's head—she was so absorbed in her father that I knew she would pay no attention anyway—I struck into a description of Georges' going.

Would Have Laughed

"You would have laughed to see Georges when he was ready to go," I said. "You see Father decided that Jack and Katharine could stay at the hotel for a day or two—by the way, Olson is to telephone about your apartment, Katharine, very soon—and that left a perfectly good disguise lying around. So Dicky and Jack clapped it on Georges."

"He made a much more impressive caballero than I did," Jack struck in, playing up. "He really was something to see, in his long foreign cloak, his wide hat, his snowy hair, goatee and moustachios."

And then, like a wasp, Noel struck in.

"Too bad you weren't here to see him, Mary," he said, with an intonation that no one could mistake.

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN BUNDESEN, M. D.

Injuries to Knee Joint

Perhaps because of the way the knee joint is constructed, it seems to be susceptible to a large number of different types of injuries. As a result of these injuries, various parts of the joint may be damaged.

In the knee joint there is a lining membrane, a capsule around the joint, and cartilages within the joint. The lining membrane may become inflamed as a result of injuries. The ligaments on the inner side of the knee may become strained. Cartilages within the joint may become dislocated.

Inflammation of the lining membrane is called synovitis. An injury which produces synovitis may tear the capsule around the joint and if the blood vessels in the capsule are injured, a bloody fluid collects in the joint.

The knee is swollen and the knee cap is pushed forward. The knee is tender throughout, due to the increased pressure of the fluid in the joint. The patient is unable to extend the knee and it can not be bent completely.

In treating synovitis it is suggested by Doctor G. Edward Crane of Rhode Island that the knee be put in a cast and kept there for from three to five weeks.

Strain of the ligaments on the inner side of the knee may result from a twisting of the joint. The ligaments may be partially torn. When this happens the amount of fluid in the joint is slightly increased and there is tenderness over the inner side of the joint.

In treating this type of injury it is well to put on a cast stretching from the toes to the hip. The cast is kept on from six to eight weeks and following its removal, the application of heat and massage is found useful in speeding up complete recovery.

Severe twisting of the knee may also cause dislocation of the cartilages. When this happens the patient cannot extend the knee and movement causes pain. Frequently the joint locks so that the knee cannot be either bent or straightened. Often in such instances an operation is necessary for removing the torn cartilage.

Still another condition affecting the knee is known as Osgood-Schlatter's disease, which occurs in persons under twenty-one years of age. It appears to develop especially when there is poor circulation to the joint. In this disorder there is a separation of a tendon which is attached to the knee cap. As a general rule, keeping the knee immovable for two months will cure this disturbance.

When any injury to the knee joint occurs an X-ray examination should be made to determine the condition present. Then proper treatment may be carried out.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

M. S.: I am sixteen years old. My skin is oily and breaks out with pimples. Are astringents helpful?

Answer: Astringents or shrinking solutions may be helpful if the pimples are widely open and the skin is too oily.

I have outlined some instructions concerning pimples to aid you in following your doctor's advice which I shall be glad to send you if you will write again, enclosing a self - addressed, stamped envelope. Your name will not be used.

Mail for Santa Claus Increases Here Following His Recent Personal Visit

The preview that Marion's youngsters had of Santa Claus last week brought an increase in the mail to that esteemed gentleman, Homer D Cole postmaster, reported today

Since Santa's appearance here nine letters have passed through the Marion office enroute to him from youngsters of Marion and Caledonia

Requests vary from doll and buggies guns and skates and sleds to a new dress for mother, a coat for daddy and shoes for grandma

One little youngster had the foresight to pencil a drawing of his house on the back of the envelope with all windows and doors marked and a very prominent arrow pointing the way to the chimney

Another sheet is covered with a writing that looks very much like the talking of "Alice the Goon" in Popeye, but Mr. Cole explained that Santa would have no trouble deciphering the strange writing, since he knows all languages

In one of the letters, one little girl stated that mother was mad because she hadn't gone to bed yet then hastily added that she was going right now, and would try to be good the future

Santa should be due to call on one little boy because he promised that he would put a bottle of pop near the Christmas tree so he could have a drink after he came to that house

Fortunately all the requests so far are for toys Santa would be likely to have on hand with dolls, skates, sleds and drawing books leading the list

LEGION POST NOW HAS 345 MEMBERS

Report is Given by Bird-McGinnis Chairman.

A meeting of Bird-McGinnis No. 162, American Legion was held in the Legion Dugout. Brown, first vice commander and membership chairman reported a total of 345 members to date.

L. Ralston was appointed post commander of this territory a recent district meeting was announced by James Nielsen, publicity officer and chairman of the legislative committee of the sixth district. The appointment was made by Ralston, commander of the district at a recent meeting of the department of Ohio American Legion. His duties will be to organize posts in the sixth district which includes Marion, Morrow, Delaware counties, and serve as the district commander.

Seven new members were initiated by the degree team in charge of C. M. Rodgers, commander of the Post. He was assisted by Robert W. Brown, first vice commander Gerald Messenger, second vice commander, and Neil L. Ralston, who took charge of past post commander.

The post voted to appoint a full time service officer to look after the rehabilitation and service needs of returning veterans. W. Wright was appointed to represent the post in the safety committee sponsored by the Marion Chamber of Commerce.

Plans for memorial services were made for servicemen at the close of the meeting. No new casualty lists were added to the list.

County Fair Program Arranged by P.-T.A.

An old-fashioned county fair and homecoming will be staged as a benefit for school playground equipment at the Silver Street school Friday night. Open to the public a special invitation has been extended to former pupils and teachers of the school and residents of the school district, to attend.

The committee, headed by Mrs. Kathryn Davis as general chairman has arranged for booths, refreshments, concessions and entertainment features to be found at a county fair and there will be prizes awarded in the various entertainment events throughout the evening. Admission to the "fair" will be a handful of sales tax stamps the committee announces.

NOMINATIONS MADE

Second nomination of officers of Sosnowski Lodge No. 184, Daughters of Rebekah, was held at a meeting Tuesday night following a 6 o'clock dinner. Mrs. Velma Cochran presided. The charter was draped for Mrs. Elizabeth Weaver, past president of Ohio Rebekah assembly of Toledo. Arrangements were made for election of officers Dec. 11. The state office and district representative will also be chosen. The election will be followed by a Christmas party and 25-cent gift exchange. During the social hour Mrs. Myrtle Snyder won the mystery box.

Our Doubts Beset Us

CHEERS for the ungloved handling of foreign policy by Maj. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley and Senator Burton K. Wheeler on Tuesday may help clear the diplomatic air.

Gen. Hurley, resigning as ambassador to China, charges that the United States is being played for a sucker by both sides in a struggle for power in Asia—the Communist empire builders on one hand, the colonial builders on the other. He sees another war ahead unless the United States declares itself in favor of democracy and free enterprise.

Senator Wheeler, piling fuel on a spreading fire of resentment against Soviet Russia's ruthless individualism and disregard for agreements and the sensibilities of its allies, calls for outspoken rejection of all further attempts to appease the Kremlin: "We must quit appeasing Russia and let her know at once and for all we did not fight this war to let her enslave the people of Europe. She agreed to our high principles in her hour of distress. She must abide by them now."

These are healthy signs of conscience. They have their origin in doubts that beset all of us. Such remarks are typical of the feeling of millions of Americans, who have been alternately depressed and puzzled by events abroad since the end of the war. Neither in Europe nor Asia have the things Americans thought were going to be settled been settled. Cooperative security seems no closer to realization than it was in 1939. Germany has been whipped again and Japan disarmed, but the dread of war and the sense of wrongdoing at the expense of human beings who deserve better are stronger than before.

For these things, Gen. Hurley and Senator Wheeler have easy explanations. That is where their presentation is weak, because there are no easy answers. The United States cannot, as Senator Wheeler would like to believe, ignore the potentialities and actualities of the Soviet Union. Senator Wheeler's isolationism has fooled him again, as when he preferred to ignore the Axis conspiracy.

Nor can the United States resolve any issues in China by merely being for the generalities of democracy and free enterprise, neither of which is likely to gain any converts in that part of the world. Gen. Hurley is in danger of oversimplifying the problem there by trying to state his reasons for resignation succinctly. He does convey the thought, however, that the worst aspect of our diplomatic fumbling is the fact we have no agreement in our own Department of State on what we really want—in China, in Russia, or anywhere else.

This is the doubt that besets Americans hardest, the doubt of a clear conception of foreign policy by their own government. It was one thing under Franklin D. Roosevelt during the war years, another thing before the war began. Today under Harry Truman it is something else, something uncertain and changeable. There is a lot of clearing to be done in the diplomatic air now that critics can speak openly again. Senator Wheeler and Gen. Hurley have made a robust beginning.

Think Twice, Gentlemen

THE senate appropriations committee has made a remarkable decision to bar the American press from information about the spending of a $550,000,000 fund for United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration.

This gag is being put over by a slippery maneuver which seems to entail nothing more sinister than voting to give the money to UNRRA with no strings attached. The effect, however, would be to continue an indefensible wartime arrangement barring American newspapermen from information about the handling of the funds in all countries choosing to gag the press.

It is not proposed that the United States should force a free press on any other country; that is a gross misrepresentation. It is proposed and has been approved by the house of representatives that properly accredited American newspapermen should have the privilege, if they want to avail themselves of it, of following up UNRRA funds to see what becomes of them.

It is this privilege that the senate appropriations committee has voted to deny the American press and the American people, whose money is involved. The rest of the senators should think twice before they accept the committee's recommendation.

A popcorn 30 times the accustomed size is a possibility. One would feel safer if exhaustive tests were held on the New Mexico plains.

Despite all signs to the contrary, the hopeful feel the world moves toward order and amity. But slowly. It is too soon to say that the peacemakers are running amuck.

The '46 motor car, unfortunately, is without the amazing gadgets which are to make driving completely automatic. For a while it will still be necessary to turn when the road does.

The utility steak disappears from the stores. However, for the benefit of those wishing to tone up the muscles of the lower face, the hardy bingo turkey should be along any hour.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

Pressure Groups Work on Truman.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29 — A photographically nosey weekly magazine is out currently with a yarn that Washington and congress have begun to turn against President Truman; that the Truman policy of getting good men and letting them have their heads in the cabinet and sub-cabinet is not working out efficiently, presumably because the men are not good enough; that the departure of Judge Rosenman, the Roosevelt fixer and the arrival at the presidential right hand of George Allen, a fine Democratic fellow, presages trouble; that the Republicans have awakened to expectations of victory—and so on.

That is not the way I get it. Such a picture presents merely the visible froth of a boiling internal condition of the government; true as far as it penetrates, but not penetrating. More thorough digging would reveal the matter something like this:

A tremendous inner struggle for direction of President Truman is going on between the old Roosevelt crowd and the party people; it ebbs and flows from week to week, day to day, and has not been concluded.

Ickes, Wallace Wing

The Ickes-Wallace wing in the cabinet, together with the old New Deal clique in congress, view with alarm the fact that the Roosevelt policies are not popular in the country and they are inclined to blame Truman. When they dare not express themselves openly, they spread their viewpoint in private and it reaches print in forms like the above-mentioned magazine story.

It is customary in politics for parties to follow their great beyond the grave. The Republicans ran on Abraham Lincoln for more than 50 years. The Roosevelt associates would like to build up a political legend like that for the Democrats.

Unfortunately the times today do not fit the Roosevelt labor and spending doctrines, which were contrived for an era of depression and seem foolish in a postwar era of inflation.

Now Mr. Truman has followed and fought for every one of those policies from unemployment insurance and full employment (while there are still many more jobs than workers) up to spending (keeping his budget more than double Roosevelt's greatest peacetime expenditure). And he is maintaining expenditure at a time when purchasing power is much too strong for the amount of goods available.

He wanted to give labor a tremendous wage increase, and permitted the issue to go to negotiations, only when associates convinced him such a boost would add to purchasing power during the shortage of goods and surely bring inflationary ruin.

Thus he has doggedly stuck to a losing game, the Roosevelt game, and with normal human perversity, the New Dealers blame him because their program failed to hold water. He did not "fight enough," they say.

Rosenman is Gone

Rosenman has now gone home for the final time, they also say. (He worked up the Roosevelt CIO-labor-spending program for Truman.) But Ickes, Wallace and the New Dealers are still around, and, as for the political angle, Democratic Chairman Bob Hannegan is heavily and exclusively playing the Roosevelt game, trying to save the Pearl Harbor inquiry from too much inquisitiveness, lauding Mrs. Roosevelt, etc.

Now congress is scared of this, which it sees. Congress faces the polls next year, long before Truman. Congressmen are preponderantly against the program and would take leadership openly to face the economic facts of the hour, but they feel the necessity for political caution. They are trimming expenditures, delaying the CIO bills—but quietly.

The worst of the matter is labor picked a bad time to strike. With people panting for automobiles, and the nation eager for humming production in all lines; high prices going higher and money, money, money everywhere anxious to be spent—the unions stop production.

Their strikes, therefore, developed the nature of revolt against the public, the government and postwar success of the nation. If they had waited until purchasing power started to lag, and the goods shortage was absorbed by production, they would have had a better case, and would have gained public support.

This is the long running inner condition, which, as I said, fluctuates from week to week. Published political prophesies about Mr. Truman, then, merely represent pressure to force him to act one way or another.

Diplomatic Angle in Hurley Row

By Walter Lippmann

BY THE time this article is published, the Washington correspondents will probably have found out what happened during the late afternoon or early evening on Monday of this week which caused Ambassador Hurley to resign and issue his statement.

At their interview on Monday afternoon he had given Secretary Byrnes the definite impression that he would return to Chungking this week. Yet a few hours later he pulled the trigger which released the blast that accompanied his resignation. The question is what happened to Hurley after he left Secretary Byrnes on Monday afternoon? There is nothing in his statement which throws any light on that question.

While this mystery is being cleared up, we may examine his general criticism of our foreign policy. Like Senator Wheeler, who spoke out the same day, Hurley believes that we are not pursuing an independent policy in Europe and Asia but are playing a subordinate and auxiliary role to Britain and Russia. But they differ considerably as to what we are doing.

Immediate Complaint

Though Hurley's immediate complaint is against the career men who, he alleges, are "endeavoring to support Communism generally as well as specifically in China." He makes the categorical statement that "in diplomacy today we are permitting ourselves to be sucked into a power bloc on the side of colonial imperialism (i. e. British) against Communist imperialism (i. e. Russian)."

Wheeler on the other hand sees us "appeasing" Russian imperialism, which is rather different from Hurley's charge that we are being sucked into a British power bloc against Russian imperialism.

Nevertheless, both men feel—however incoherently — that in eastern Europe, the Middle East, and in Asia, the basic conflict is between the Soviet Union and the British empire, and that the United States is being drawn into that conflict instead of playing an independent and constructive role of its own.

When all discounts have been made for the violence and unfairness with which this criticism is made, there is a residue of truth in it which no one can afford to dismiss easily because he does not like Senator Wheeler's record or Ambassador Hurley's performance in China.

It is true—so it has seemed to me ever since I attended the San Francisco conference—that, if I may quote something written last May, "the real issue has been between London and Moscow, and it would be very unfortunate, indeed, if the United States sacrificed its great influence as the mediator, which President Roosevelt struggled to maintain even in his last days . . It is of special importance that we preserve our more detached role in the Anglo-Soviet difficulties, remembering that while they are for the moment focussed on Poland, they extend in a wide arc through the Balkans to the Middle East and Persia."

This was written at a time when the San Francisco conference was in grave danger of breaking up because the chairman of our delegation had drifted into a position where we were becoming the head and front of a worldwide anti-Soviet coalition. The conference was rescued by the prompt action of President Truman, who advised of the danger, sent Harry Hopkins to Moscow and Joseph Davies to London, and succeeded in placing us once again in the position of conciliator and mediator between the Soviet Union and the other great powers.

We must admit that this is a difficult position to maintain, that the role of the mediator power is a difficult one to play. But when, as for example at the London conference, we fall away from this middle position, and take the lead as partisans in conflicts which are more directly and vitally British-Soviet than they are American-Soviet conflicts, we dissipate our influence and the whole system of international action becomes stalled.

It becomes stalled because in fact the United States has influence but not power in eastern Europe, in the Balkans, in the Middle East, and in southern Asia. Power is in the hands either of the Russians or of the British, and if we are to exercise influence under these conditions, it can only be as the mediator in these conflicts, not as partisan and underwriter of the interests or the claims of either of the two empires.

I do not, of course, sympathize at all with Senator Wheeler's fierce animosity against our great allies, and I have no doubt that just such speeches as his make it infinitely more difficult for the United States to cure the very errors of policy which at bottom he is objecting to.

If we are not to be whipsawed between Russian and British imperialism, if we are to pursue an independent course which is that of conciliation, mediation and pacification, we cannot promote the policy of Senator Wheeler's violent hatred of virtually all foreign governments.

He seems to think we can overawe them with strong language, and make them follow our lead by commanding them to do so. But he is mistaken. We are not that powerful, and we shall never be that powerful even if Senator Wheeler should change his mind and be willing to maintain and develop American military power instead of being a persistent influence in the senate in favor of making the United States impotent as a military power.

Industrial Aid

FUZFO, Hungary—New industrial experimental laboratories, directed by Dr. Laszlo Demeny, one time Rockefeller fellow at the University of California, have been set up in a modern factory here as one step in aiding tottering Hungarian industry to get back on its feet. The laboratories were instituted by the Hungarian oil companies.

"We're interested chiefly in producing sugar from starch, alcohol from cheap grapes, acetilin from methane gas of which we have large deposits, and the conversion of sunflower seed hulls in furfural for fine lacquers," Demeny said.

HEY, YOU CAN'T QUIT YET!

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Friday, Nov. 29, 1935. The China Clipper, four minutes late on the first trans-Pacific airmail flight in history, alighted on Manila bay at 2:31 a. m. amid wild acclaim. The 1,700-mile hop from Guam required only 11 hours 25 minutes, an Associated Press account of the event stated.

George A. Dennig, 71, of 256 North Seffner avenue, died suddenly of a heart attack.

Marion city's offer to pay $1,550,000 for the property of the Marion Water Co. was accepted by Reeves J. Newsom of New York City, president of the Community Water Service Co. of New York, owners of the Marion plant.

Rae Delancey Henkle, 52, native of LaRue and head of the Henkle Publishing Co. in New York City, died in that city.

State highway patrolmen from the Marion sub-station and Sheriff Fred F. Miller and his deputies were patrolling the roads near Marion on orders received from the state highway office following holdup of the Citizens' bank at Mt. Blanchard where $1,833 was taken shortly before noon. In the patrol party were Patrolmen J. M. Kratzer, Paul Wasson and C. N. Long and Sheriff Miller and Deputies Gene Geissler and W. H. Willis.

Mrs. J. P. Augenstein of 344 Hane avenue suffered burns about the face, shoulders and both hands when a small gas heater in the bathroom of her home exploded.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Sunday, Nov. 29, 1925. Farewell services for Dr. Jesse Swank were held at Epworth M. E. church, where he had served as pastor 11 years. He had been appointed superintendent of the Dayton district, West Ohio conference. The church was thronged throughout the day, more than 1,400 attending Sunday school. In the morning service Dr. and Mrs. Swank were presented with a new automobile by members of the congregation and friends outside the church.

Special homecoming services were held at the First Reformed church in celebration of its eighty-second anniversary. The services also marked the close of a successful building fund campaign held under the direction of Asa C. Queen.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Axe and family of Summit street and Mrs. M. Goss returned from Dayton, where they attended the wedding of Mr. Axe's brother, Eugene, to Miss Alice Kahleher.

The output of Borneo's oil fields in one prewar year was 9,000,000 tons.

Strike and Anti-Trust Policy

By Raymond Moley

THE immediate issues of the General Motors strike mostly concern the secretary of labor, but the ultimate issues concern the attorney general and the judiciary committee of the two houses of congress. For the ultimate issues will involve the antitrust policies of the government in a manner never seen since the original anti-trust act was passed in 1890.

This long-range issue is raised by a few simple facts about this strike. The UAW is a very large union. It is the bargaining agent in practically every section of the automobile industry. The CIO, of which it is a subsidiary, ramifies far and wide in other industries. No doubt, the CIO-UAW has determined on a policy of raising wages generally and has selected General Motors as the center of the line of attack. Once it has broken this main bastion, the smaller companies will feel the pressure. Thus, there will be exerted on an industry which is still highly competitive, a tremendous pressure by what is essentially a labor trust.

The result may well be to force mergers in the industry, not only because smaller companies may not be able to pay the wages possible to General Motors, but because the UAW demand that company secrets be generalized will eliminate most of the basis of competition within the industry.

Sooner or later, under such a turn of events, the department of justice will have to decide on a scale of company sizes which it will tolerate in the automobile industry—perhaps in all industry. In short, General Motors might be attacked in the same way as the Aluminum company.

This will take place, however, only if the CIO-UAW succeeds in generalizing the wage increases it wants from General Motors. If it decides to be severe only on the big company or companies, the drive toward mergers will not be so tough. But such a decision by the CIO-UAW would, in effect, be the seizure by a private labor union or cartel of discretion as to what a proper-sized comapny should be. Which would give to this private labor body a power hitherto exercised by congress and the department of justice.

If the Administration throws its weight behind the current labor demands, it should realize that it is helping labor to bring about a result which it must later deal with itself. For the legal breaking up of monster corporations is ultimtely a job of government.

If the unions are to allow the smaller companies to have differentials, the government must assume a vital concern in what happens. If it gives sympathy, not to say support, to such a determination of industry policy by a union, it is yielding one of its major prerogatives to private hands. In short, it must decide whether the unions are to fix the proper size of companies or whether the government is to do so.

At the same time, government will be affirming, once more, that it is none of its concern that a labor trust exists—a trust whose power in restraining trade is greater now than has ever existed in ownership and management.

Stamp Sales at High Mark

Errors in Printing Make Values Soar

By GEORGE A. SCOTT
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON—Postage stamp sales are booming these days—but the stamps aren't being used to mail letters.

They are collectors' items, such as a block of four U. S. airmail stamps that changed hands for $27,000 and a pair of 1851 Canadian "twelve-penny blacks" that brought $7,500 in auctions this year.

Less spectacular but equally significant are dealers' reports of increased sales over the counter to stamp collectors. Typical is a dealer who reports a $10,000 increase in his business in the past year.

Department Shares Boom

Even the Post Office department is sharing in the boom. Receipts for the fiscal year ending last June 30 at its Philatelic Agency broke all records with a total of $2,489,406.50. Few of the stamps sold by the Philatelic Agency ever are used on letters—they go right into collectors' albums.

Dealers and other stamp experts attribute the heavy demand and sales to several factors. They include:

1. Increased purchasing power. Even the most modest collector has had a few extra dollars to spend on his hobby.

2. Importation to this country by European refugees of many outstanding collections of stamp rarities which have been sold at auction by their owners to recoup lost fortunes.

3. The shutting off, during the war, of normal foreign sources of stamps so that the demand exceeded the supply. This factor is becoming less significant as trade channels reopen.

Also stimulating the market has been the disposal at auction of numerous well-known American collections. The most famous of these is the collection of the late Col. E. H. R. Green, son of the fabulous Hetty Green. It already has returned over $1,000,000 in auction sales, with a considerable portion still to be sold.

A three-day auction sale of part of the Green stamp collection in September realized $92,771, with one stamp—again a U. S. airmail—bringing $3,000.

The airmail stamps are among the rarities of postage issues. All five are from a sheet of the 24-cent denomination of the 1918 issue that through an error was printed with the airplane upside down. The $27,000 paid for the block of four, incidentally, set a record for the price paid for U. S. stamps.

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

Thoughts on Reconversion

RECONVERSION is progressing more speedily than any war fought so far.

* * *

Yes, Sir, it is doing so fine that all it needs is penicillin, sulpha drugs and more aerial service.

* * *

Our transition from war to peace is going almost so beautifully that not a monkey wrench has missed the target so far.

* * *

The war ended six months ago. It now looks as if America got permanent custody.

* * *

No peace conference has been called yet. The invitation list would have to include too many people still too busy fighting to come to it.

* * *

The war was fought to make a better world in which to live. But the planet is still too groggy to know if it feels better or worse.

* * *

We fought it to preserve the American way of life. But the way of life is too battered for positive identification at the moment.

* * *

All through the war the emphasis was on unity. And we are going to get it, no matter how it divides us!

* * *

We fought Hitler because he was too free with ultimatums, denunciations, threats and harsh language, but we seem to have taken over the technique under the surrender terms.

* * *

For fifteen years America wallowed in a deep depression in which the cry was, "If we can only get jobs!" And now that it has more jobs than at any time in half century the cry, "Let's quit!" seems to be the Voice of the U.S.A.

* * *

American production was the country's pride and joy. Today as soon as a factory starts producing anything there is a labor-management crisis.

* * *

This is the land of plenty.. if you mean plenty of arguments.

* * *

It is the land of unlimited opportunity.. for arbitrators.

* * *

If the village blacksmith were around today his chestnut tree would be picketed.

* * *

The blacksmith shop would have a picture of Bob Wagner over the door, there would be a Sidney Hillman button on smithy's apron and no horse could get shod until the smith had finished reading "Sixty Million Jobs."

* * *

If the kids coming home from school paused to look in they would have to have a pass from an organizer. And outside the forge there would be somebody with a banner, "This blacksmith shop unfair."

But maybe its that way always after wars. Everybody seems to feel more like fighting than ever. Peace, it's wonderful! But it's too warlike.

Reunion

("Mrs. Ernie Pyle, wife of the famous correspondent who was killed at Iwo Jima, is dead — News Item)

They're together on the hilltops
Of the golden promised land—
Geraldine and gallant Ernie,
Walking once more hand in hand.
War and ordeals all behind 'em,
Fame and riches now so dim,
As the "little guy" so lonely
Sees "that girl" come back to him.
All the dreams they knew together
All the hopes that turned to pain
Now come into full fruition
As they say, "My dear," again.
Oh, she felt so low without him!
Up there he was pining, too;
Now "that girl who rides beside me"
Rides the trail with him anew.

"Alabama Gets Rose Bowl Bid"—headline.

We had an idea it might dwindle down to a choice between the United Auto Workers and General Motors.

Cheering Section

Everything is so utterly utter—
No more stamps for meat or butter!

Elmer Twitchell called up the auto salesroom today and asked for a demonstration in how to get an automobile.

A Few Simple Wants

By Truman Twill

Christmas shopping, of course, should be done early. It saves wear and tear on clerks and customers, reduces congestion and is neater. It also is more satisfactory from the standpoint of being able to choose from a greater variety of merchandise and therefore is a break for the beneficiaries, who resent being taken care of with a lot of picked-over merchandise purchased at the shopping deadline.

For years we have tried to understand why it is that these arguments, which have such logic back of them, never have persuaded us to do our Christmas shopping early. Each year about the time of Thanksgiving we have announced that our shopping is going to be handled in an orderly manner and every year the day before Christmas we have had last-minute frenzies, ending up with a desperation dash to the corner drugstore at closing time on the last night to find something suitable for Aunt Mary. It is nerve-wracking.

But it also is a good deal of fun, and it is probably the reason why the logic of shopping early and being systematic and orderly never really persuades us to practice what we preach. The fact of the matter is that giving Christmas presents isn't a logical matter in the first place and attempting to use logic on it is as ridiculous as attempting to apply logic to love, for example. Anyway, that's the way it has worked out for us—and we doubt that this year will be any exception. The Christmas rush is on right now. Each year it keeps crowding the starting line a little closer. It's already too late to do Christmas shopping early and avoid the rush, so perhaps it will be just as well to wait until the rush is over.

There are only a few things we want—a few needs that have been mentioned so often they can't be forgotten. Mrs. Twill wants half a dozen pairs of nylon stockings. One of the children wants a new bicycle, and the other will be satisfied with an all-metal scooter with pneumatic tires and a brake.

Also on the list are an electric shaver, a bag of golf balls, half a dozen pairs of those old-fashioned leather shoestrings, three sets of Christmas tree lights, a box of good five-cent cigars and, for ourself, a set of new tires for the family go-devil.

But there's no hurry about buying these. They've been waiting for three years and one more year won't make any difference.

Police Force Shrinking

Motion Overruled

A motion to reopen the case, overruled by Common Pleas Judge Paul D. Smith in the divorce action of Letha Catherine Rentschler against Harry Rentschler, has been carried to the court of appeals by the defendant, through his attorney Carter M. Patton. The plaintiff was granted a divorce on grounds of neglect in August in common pleas court.

New Trials Refused

Motions for new trials, filed by both the plaintiff and defendant in the suit of W. O. Carmel of Galion against Edith J. McClean, and Mrs. McClean against W. O. Carmel, have been overruled in common pleas court by Judge Paul D. Smith. The plaintiff's petition was filed Nov. 27, and the defendant's on Nov. 28.

On Nov. 15, in common pleas court, a jury awarded the plaintiff $225 in payment for two diamond rings which he claimed was due him, and awarded the defendant, on her cross petition, the sum of $500 with interest for a lot in Michigan which she claimed was sold to Mr. Carmel. Howard Guthery of Marion and J. D. Sears of Bucyrus represented the plaintiff and George W. Coble of Galion and J. W. Jacoby of Marion the defendant.

Marriage licenses have been issued in probate court to Paul Jackson of Columbus, laborer and Juanita Middleton of Marion, maid; Clarence J. Peery of Marion, laborer and Evelyn Clutter of Marion, teacher.

REV. E. I. OBEE TELLS OF MISSION WORK IN JAPAN

Speaks in Methodist Program at LaRue.

Special to The Star

LARUE—Rev. E. I. Obee, minister of the Morral, Asbury Methodist churches and former missionary to Japan from 1904 to 1928, was speaker for the special W.S.C.S. Thank-Offering service at the LaRue Methodist church Sunday morning.

He told of his work with the people of Japan and of the growth of schools and churches there, pointing out the difficulties encountered by missionaries in the foreign field, such as language, housing, food and prejudices of the natives to foreigners, and of the joys experienced at visual rewards of service given. He displayed many articles of artistic handiwork made and used by the Japanese.

Rev. Obee explained that the Japanese Christians were much opposed to the aggressive policy of the Japanese government but through threat of punishment and death were forced to bow to the powerful militarists who had been in control for many years. Evidence of opposition to the militarists was presented by reading a letter of apology to the Chinese people written by a famous Japanese Christian minister.

The benediction was given by the speaker in the Japanese language.

Members from the W.S.C.S. taking part in the program were Mrs. Sheldon Virden, presiding; Lena Dale Mulvaine, Mrs. J. W. Horne and Mrs. Doris James, Mrs. Burley Seiler, Mrs. Sheldon Kramp, Mrs. Ralph Amstutz and Mrs. Wm. Trihaft.
